

Secretary Hull Snubs Suggestion of Trip to Tokyo for Talk

He, President Not Planning Pacific Jaunt

'Not Very Aware' of Japanese Threat on Oil Shipments.

By THE UNITED PRESS.
WASHINGTON, May 5.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull indicated today that he is not considering seriously the suggestion from Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka that he and President Roosevelt visit Tokyo to get first hand knowledge of Japan's objectives in the Pacific.

He said he had received no formal invitation from Matsuoka and implied that it would be rejected if it arrived. At the same time, he sidestepped an inquiry concerning reports that the Japanese embassy had advised the department that grave consequences likely would follow further restrictions by this country on oil exports to Japan.

Asked if he was aware if these rumors, Hull said cryptically that he was not very aware. He discredited reports that Japan is negotiating the lease of islands in southern Chile for use as naval and air bases. He insisted that the department has no information which would confirm these rumors.

Oil Exports Watched.
The administration is under pressure from many quarters to curtail oil shipments to Japan. Chief arguments of those favoring such action is that large quantities of oil exports are being transhipped from Japan through Russia to feed the Axis war machine.

Hull made it plain last week that further export restrictions would be considered as part of a general policy, and would not be aimed specifically at Tokyo.

It was revealed today that the government has revoked all licenses for shipment of scrap rubber to Japan and occupied parts of China. The action, which was requested by defense officials, was taken on the basis of advice indicating that much of the exported rubber was being transhipped to Germany to meet a shortage there.

Material Check Asked.
There were indications that congressional concern was mounting over persistent reports that vital American war materials are finding their way into the hands of the Axis partners. Representative John M. Coffee, Democrat, Washington, and Senator Guy M. Gillette, Democrat, Iowa, introduced a joint resolution calling for congressional determination of the extent of trade now being carried on between the United States and the Triple Alliance.

Senator Elbert D. Thomas, Democrat, Utah, introduced a resolution directing the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to investigate possibilities of a "permanent and lasting peace throughout the world."

U. S. Will Use Convoys Soon, Cox Says; People Want Effective British Aid--Vinson; Air Supremacy Demanded by Roosevelt

Pulitzer Prize Goes To Westbrook Pegler

Columnist Honored for Expose of Labor Racketeering.

NEW YORK, May 5.—(UP)—Westbrook Pegler, columnist for The Atlanta Constitution and other American newspapers, today was awarded a Pulitzer prize of $1,000 for "articles on scandals in the ranks of organized labor which led to the expulsion and conviction of George Scalise."

Scalise was sentenced last December to a 10 to 20-year term in Sing Sing for stealing funds of his union, the Building Service Employees' International (AFL). He had been convicted of white slavery in 1913 and Pegler disclosed that William Green, American Federation of Labor president, endorsed his application for a presidential pardon for that crime.

Pegler's award was in the "distinguished example of a reporter's work" classification.

The Pulitzer prize trustees made no award in the category of "distinguished novel" published during 1940 by an American author.

Democracies Must Control Sky--F. D. R.

Production Facilities Will Be Strained to Utmost.

By THE UNITED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—President Roosevelt tonight demanded aerial supremacy for the democracies and called upon Secretary of War Stimson to increase production of heavy bombers "with all possible speed."

"Command of the air by the democracies must and can be achieved," Mr. Roosevelt said in a letter to Stimson. "Every month the democracies are gaining in the relative strength of their air forces. We must see to it that the process is hastened and that the democratic superiority in the air be made absolute."

The President did not specify by what ratio he was ordering heavy bomber production speeded up. But he left no doubt that the objective he has fixed will strain his country's production facilities to their utmost.

He gave Stimson virtual carte blanche authority to take whatever steps necessary to achieve the goal.

One source said the chief executive was demanding peak production of 500 bombers a month, or 6,000 a year. Combined with the British output this would give the United States and Britain rapid ascendancy over Axis production, it was said.

Mr. Roosevelt, who is in almost constant touch with Stimson, apparently made the letter public so as to impress upon the public the gravity of the British position and to re-emphasize his frequent warning that United States must go on an all-out defense production basis.

It was also seen as a reaffirmation of his determination to provide Britain with "the tools" to insure a German defeat.

The President told Stimson he was ordering the Office of Production Management to provide

FROM POLAR ICE AND CALIFORNIA SUNSHINE TO ALTAR—It had no part of the December-May wedding about it, but Miss Evelyn Tanck, who hails from San Diego, Cal., met her aviator fiance, Walter Giles, as he returned from the U. S. Antarctic expedition and they marched to the altar. She met him as the ship North Star arrived at Boston yesterday and later in the day they were married.

Marietta Girl Succumbs to Pistol Wound

Companion on Ride Tells Puzzling Story at Inquest.

Miss Annie Marie Morgan, attractive, 20-year-old Marietta girl, died early yesterday in Marietta hospital of a .32-caliber pistol wound mysteriously suffered late Sunday night while riding in an automobile.

A Cobb county coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict that Miss Morgan "came to her death from a gunshot wound fired by a party or parties unknown." The inquest was conducted by Coroner John R. Williams.

Robert Gaines, 40, employed in a Marietta grocery store, who was Miss Morgan's companion on the automobile ride, told the jury that the pistol from which the fatal shot was fired was his property.

Gaines testified that he and Miss Morgan, with whom he had been going for the past several months, went for a ride in his sedan early Sunday night and rode around for several hours.

"We were out on Highway 41, about four miles from town," he said, "at about 9 o'clock. We stopped at a roadside stand. I asked her if she wanted a soft drink and she said, 'No.' I went into the place to get a soft drink and some cigarettes.

Walter Giles, Miss Evelyn Tanck Married at Boston; City Hall Clock Stopped to Permit Issuance of Permit.

BOSTON, May 5.—(AP)—An aviator who returned only this morning from the Antarctic was married here late today after obtaining a waiver of the five-day marriage law.

Walter R. Giles, of Conyers, Ga., who flew for the United States Antarctic expedition, and Miss Evelyn Tanck, of San Diego, Cal., were married by Charles Mackie, assistant city registrar, at a Boston hotel after a probate court justice granted the waiver.

The ceremony was held after the couple tried unsuccessfully to be married at Seabrook, N. H., and Providence, R. I. A Boston city hall clock was stopped at 5 o'clock to give them time to obtain the waiver and return for the license.

After spending a few days in Boston the couple will leave for Philadelphia, where Giles will assume duties at the Navy yard as a marine sergeant.

They met at San Diego when Giles was stationed there, and they've carried on an inter-continental courtship by radio since Giles sailed from the Antarctic in 1939.

Radio "cupid" in the case was a San Diego radio amateur, Johnnie Griggs, who also was on hand today to check on his handiwork.

The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Giles, of Conyers, Giles, who is a member of the United States Marines, joined the Byrd expedition in 1939 as a co-pilot and radio operator.

Four Georgians Flatly Favor Guarding Ships

Ramspeck Is Opposed to Plan at Present Time.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Four of the ten Georgia members of the house today were flatly in favor of convoys if necessary to get American war supplies to Great Britain. Their expression came after Representative Cox predicted on the house floor that this country will resort to convoys. Two other members were undecided and Robert Ramspeck was definitely opposed—"at the present time." Three others were not available for comment.

"Of course we are going to convoy and convoy right away," Cox said in debate on a bill empowering the President to take formal possession of foreign ships idle in American ports and put them to use.

Voted Billions.
"We have voted billions of credit for Great Britain. We have promised support to the limit of our capacity. If it happens that we can't fulfill our promise short of convoys what are you going to do?"

"Are you going to stop because convoys might get us into war? Of course you're not. There will be very few who will oppose convoys if it means commitments we have made."

Chairman Vinson, of the Naval Affairs Committee, declared in an interview that if convoys are needed to get United States war material to England "let's have convoys."

Camp Viewpoint.
Representative A. Sidney Camp, of Newnan, said "we must get the material to Britain, without convoys if possible, but we must get it there. I am certainly not in favor of having seven billion dollars' worth of materials sent to the bottom of the sea without protection."

Representative John S. Gibson, of Douglas, was even more emphatic, saying that "I am in favor of convoys or any other means necessary to get aid safely to Britain without it being destroyed at sea."

On the other hand, Representative Ramspeck, the Congressman representing the Atlanta district, flatly said "I am opposed to convoys at the present time. A ques-

Georgia Power Amateur Radio Company Gives Operator Held Raise to 900 In U. S. Case

Increase of 3 1-2 Cents an Hour Made; Vacations Extended.

Georgia Power Company yesterday announced wage increases to 900 employees of its street car and bus transportation division totaling $95,000 a year.

The new scale reached after several weeks of negotiation calls for increases of three and one-half cents an hour to all street car and bus operators, repair shop, garage and roadway men, a total of $76,000, and increases paid vacation period from one week to 10 days, which calls for another $19,000 expenditure.

The agreement, which became effective as of May 1, recognizes the Local Division 732, Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach employees of America, an AFL union, as sole bargaining agent for all employees of the Atlanta street railway service.

The contract for two years prohibits strikes, lockouts, slowdowns or any other interference with service, provides that after one year the wage agreement may be revised.

New contracts will later be ne-

Reds Shifting Armed Force To West-Vichy

Positions Strengthened on Balkan, Near Eastern Frontiers.

VICHY, May 5.—(UP)—Unofficial diplomatic dispatches from Moscow today reported a huge "about face" of Russia's military strength and a shifting of large land, sea, and air forces southward toward the Balkan and Near Eastern frontiers.

Although the reports contained no hint of any kind of impending Soviet military action they were described in Vichy as revealing a general "jockeying for position" throughout the Near East from the Black Sea to the Persian Gulf.

The dispatches reaching Vichy said that Russia is shifting from the Far East a large proportion of its men and materials to strengthen positions in the southwest.

A dispatch from diplomatic quarters in Moscow said that the Soviet Politburo has closed the Trans-Siberian, Turkish and Tachkent-Orenburg railroads to all except military traffic until May 15, with the exception of a few passenger trains from which all foreigners are excluded.

One of two Russian corps of reserve aviation which have been held at the disposition of the Soviet supreme command was reported to have been ordered to the Kiev military district, east of Poland. The transfer, according to reports reaching Vichy, involves 1,800 bombers and 900 combat planes.

The Soviet high command also is reported to have decided on an extensive reinforcement of its fleets in the Black Sea and the Caspian due, according to some versions, to the presence in the Black Sea of Italian and German naval forces.

A Russian military mission headed by Lieutenant General Kousnetsov was reported with confirmation to be en route from Moscow to Tehran to discuss with the government of Iran the installation in western and central Iran of 12 airfields which might be used by the Soviet air forces if Turkey became involved in the war. The mission later is expected to go to Baghdad and Kabul.

Tonnage Marks Broken On 3 Eastern Rivers

PITTSBURGH, May 5.—(P)—All tonnage records for freight handled on the Allegheny, Monongahela and Ohio rivers were broken in 1940, the United States engineers' office here disclosed today.

Records for the Monongahela and Ohio rivers considered separately also were shattered last year, the engineers' figures showed.

Total tonnage on the three rivers, after eliminating duplication occurring when the same cargo moved from one river into another, was 35,644,204 tons, compared with 32,741,106 tons in 1939, the previous record year.

Coal contributed the greatest tonnage to the total.

SPECIAL AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE ANNOUNCEMENT

In Connection With Personal Loans

Why should you be compelled to buy a lot of insurance that you don't want so as to borrow money on your car? It adds too much to the cost of your loan.

$5.00 is all you have to pay for all the insurance on your car that we require on loans up to $180.00. On each additional $50.00 borrowed, the premiums would be about $1.40; for instance, on a loan of $300.00 the total insurance cost would be about $8.25; this covers fire and theft for the full amount regardless of the unpaid balance of your loan at the time of the loss; that is, if you borrowed $300.00, had paid it down to $150.00, suffered a loss, the insurance company would pay you the $150.00 and pay you the balance of the policy.

As our total interest and all charges on $300.00 for 12 months are $30.00, the total cost including insurance would be $38.25; about 11c per day, or $3.20 per month.

To further illustrate, we give you a few more examples showing the total cost, including insurance, interest, and all charges for 12 months.

Loan	Insurance	Interest and All Charges	Total Cost
$180.00	$5.00	$18.00	$28.00
300.00	8.25	30.00	38.25
500.00	13.75	50.00	63.75
750.00	20.63	75.00	95.63
1,000.00	27.50	100.00	127.50

Mind you, we do not make any charges whatever except those shown above; you know before you come in just what your loan will cost you. The above figures cover the cost of insurance on new cars for 12 months; some of the larger cars cost slightly more.

Loans from $50.00 to $1,000.00 on same proportionate basis except that the minimum insurance premium is $5.00; but our interest and all charges on $50.00 for 12 months is only $5.00.

Same interest rates shown above, no insurance required, apply to loans on Household Furniture, Endorsers, Diamonds, etc.

REMEMBER: We enjoy making loans; we go out of our way to make loans that seem impossible at first.

tion of that importance has to be determined in the light of facts existing at the time it becomes necessary to make a decision. I don't think it is necessary for us to use convoys yet."

Congressman Malcolm G. Tarver, of Dalton, preferred not to make a statement, while Hugh Peterson, of Alay, hoped it wouldn't be necessary to use convoys but added he had not given the matter sufficient mature consideration to say what his final attitude would be if the question is put to Congress.

The statements came on a day in which the house heard a Republican spokesman, Hamilton Fish, of New York, declare that convoys meant war. Fish also assailed Wendell Willkie because, he said, Willkie had "come out for convoys and thus repudiated every statement he made to the American people."

The convoy question arose despite the statement by Representative Sabath, Illinois Democrat, that nothing in the bill under debate provided for convoys and shortly before it was announced that 25 American tankers would be provided by American shippers immediately for the shipping pool being assembled to aid Great Britain. Twenty-five others will be supplied later.

Fish had charged that the bill would permit transfer of German and Italian vessels to Great Britain and thereby "constitute an act of war."

"appropriate" priority ratings to clear the way for all-out production. His letter left no doubt that the Axis aerial challenge must be met in kind and bettered.

"The effective defense of this country and the vital defense of other democratic nations requires that there be a substantial increase in heavy bomber production," he wrote. "To this end will you take whatever action is needed, including the procurement of aircraft, to obtain substantially the production rate which I am indicating to you in a private memorandum."

This action was taken as an indication that British prosecution of the war by air is no less important than maintaining the British supply lines across the Atlantic.

Means Greater Strain.

Heavy bombers are especially suited to long-range operations. It was recalled that British Prime Minister Winston Churchill said recently that Britain would have to carry an aerial counter-offensive to Germany.

"I am fully aware of the fact that increasing the number of our heavy bombers will mean a great strain upon our production effort," Mr. Roosevelt wrote. "It will mean a large expansion of plant facilities and the utilization of existing factories not now engaged in making munitions."

He sent copies of the letter to Secretary of the Navy Knox, OPM Director General William S. Knudsen and Co-Director Sidney Hillman.

The text of Mr. Roosevelt's letter to Stimson:

"The effective defense of this country and the vital defense of other democratic nations requires that there be a substantial increase in heavy bomber production. To this end will you take whatever action is needed, including the procurement of aircraft, to obtain substantially the production rate which I am indicating to you in a private memorandum."

Duce's Seamen Found Guilty Of Sabotage

39 Italian Crew Members Seized in Florida Convicted.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., May 5. (P)—All 39 seamen taken off the Italian freighter Ircania when the vessel was seized here by the United States Coast Guard March 30 were convicted of sabotage today.

A federal court jury, which heard testimony that the seamen disabled the ship by damaging its machinery, deliberated only half an hour.

Judge Louis W. Strum said he would sentence them and the 21 members of the crew of the Confidenza, another Italian ship disabled while at anchor here, after he acts on motions by defense counsel to be presented Friday. The Confidenza seamen were convicted last week.

Defense Attorney Admits Sabotage Ordered

WILSON, N. C., May 5.—(P)—An attorney for 10 Italian seamen charged with violating the anti-sabotage laws asserted in federal district court today that the sailors destroyed the engines of their freighter, the Vallarperosa, because they feared she would be seized to carry munitions to England for use against Italy.

The attorney, Homer L. Loomis, of New York, told the jury the Italians would admit they destroyed the engines under orders of an attorney of the Italian embassy.

A government witness said damages to the Diesel engines of the freighter amounted to approximately $180,000.

British Form New Lines in Tobruk Area

Axis Preparations for Fresh Assault on Libya Shattered.

CAIRO, Egypt, May 5.—(P)—Besieged Britons have thrown up new works opposite Axis troops occupying the southwest fringe of Tobruk's outer defenses to re-establish their lines, British sources said tonight, and shattered German-Italian preparations for a fresh assault on the Libyan port.

The British erected their new barricades yesterday after their land and air forces had blasted Germany and Italian troops and transports moving up for an attempt to smash through Tobruk's perimeter of defenses.

While this operation was carried out, far-ranging British bombers attacked Axis transport and mechanized units in the Marau area on the Cernaian plateau to the west, the RAF command reported.

British mechanized forces were said to have successfully engaged several Axis detachments in the area of Salum, Egypt, where the Axis thrust toward the Suez has been stalled several weeks.

While the British reported continued progress against isolated Italian resistance in Ethiopia, former Emperor Haile Selassie was declared en route on a triumphal return to his country's capital, Addis Ababa.

Garden Club To Meet

BARNESVILLE, Ga., May 5.—The annual spring flower show of the Daffodil Garden Club of Culoden will be held in the school auditorium Thursday afternoon. Judges will be Mrs. Kenneth Dunwoody, Mrs. Roy Crockett and Mrs. Charles Newton, of Macon.

will include at least two assembly plants for big bombers and four plants for manufacturing bomber motors.

When the assembly plants now under construction go into operation late this year, they are expected to turn out 300 medium and heavy bombers a month.

Among the material problems involved are machine tools, magnesium and aluminum. Mr. Roosevelt's reference to priorities was presumed to refer to these and other strategic supplies.

Stimson tomorrow night will make what is described as a very important speech. He will have an opportunity then to discuss what steps must be taken to attain aerial superiority.

Meanwhile, the War Department revealed that the Air Corps has completed intensive tests, including flying under simulated combat conditions, with a new single-engine, single-seater pursuit plane armed with a cannon and machineguns.

Tool Makers Asked To Speed Output

WASHINGTON, May 5.—(UP)—OPM Director William S. Knudsen today asked machine tool makers to "forget everything except the welfare of the country" to speed their output and facilitate President Roosevelt's goal of round-the-clock defense production.

He addressed a general letter to machine-tool makers as a follow-up to the appeal made by the President last Friday for 24-hour arms production. Selective service officials have joined with the OPM in a drive to obtain more skilled workers to achieve this program.

Knudsen's letter was dated May 2. It said that Mr. Roosevelt "sounded the call to American industry to join in an all-out effort." It outlined some suggestions of Knudsen's to facilitate tool production but said that "responsibility is primarily yours."

The Army is preparing to spend $1,500,000,000 of lend-lease and supplemental defense funds for a new string of plants which will stress the two most critical items—aircraft and ordnance.

It is understood this program

Germ-Killer From Stale Bread Is New Rival of Sulfanilimide

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 5.—(AP)—A new germ-killing medicine, believed by some researchers to be as effective as sulfanilimide on many infections, was reported before the American Society for clinical investigation today.

The new drug, called "penicillin," is made from a green mold commonly found on stale bread.

Dr. Martin H. Dawson, faculty member of New York's College of Physicians and Surgeons, told the society it was highly effective on pneumonia, meningitis, carbuncles and streptococcal infections.

This particular "strain" of mold has been kept alive since an English physician discovered its apparent germicidal qualities 12 years ago. Dr. Dawson said little research had been done on the fungus growth until about a year ago, when he, together with Drs. Gladys L. Hobby, Karl Meyer and Eleanor Chaffee of New York, began systematic experiments.

They injected penicillin into the bloodstream of animals and humans suffering various infections, Dr. Dawson said, and found no toxic effects resulted even from doses far in excess of those required to clear up the diseases. He observed this gave penicillin a distinct advantage over sulfanilimide, which has poisonous effects on some patients.

Dr. Dawson reported that before his group used the medicine intravenously some Englishmen sniffed powdered forms of it to kill streptococcal and other infections.

Possible Entry Of U. S. Gives Hitler Pause In Iraq Fails

German Newspaper Sees Factor Threatening Longer War.

BERLIN, May 5.—(P)—Adolf Hitler's hint in his Reichstag address Sunday that the war might run into 1942 probably was based on "the calculated effects of American intervention," the commentary Dienst aus Deutschland said tonight.

Earlier, other authorized spokesmen saw in Hitler's mention of arms for "next year" only an answer to "English and American propaganda" that England had but to hold out this year to win the war.

The commentary, which has close foreign office connections, added, however, that this prolongation of the war could not affect the final outcome of a German victory.

Hitler's emphasis on Germany's determination to hold the line in "history's greatest armament race" induced many German leaders to consider the prospect of a prolonged conflict with more enemies.

Thus the authoritative Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung referred to a statement attributed to American generals and admirals that German armament production was at its maximum while the United States is "a nation on wheels."

"But one cannot swim over the ocean on wheels," Allgemeine Zeitung observed, and insisted that not machines, but the task of delivering American aid to Britain was the crux of the situation.

Dienst observed that Hitler hinted at the conflict's extending into 1942, and added that in the assumption of such a possibility "lies undoubtedly calculation on the prospects of American intervention."

"Such intervention was appraised by Germans as an influence which could prolong the war but under no circumstances alter the ultimate result," Dienst added.

"No one will doubt that the armament potential will be increased with methods of the well-known German thoroughness."

gotiated with local unions in Augusta, Macon, Columbus and Rome.

The new wage scale is the highest in the history of the Power Company, and is the highest paid in any city in the southeast for this type of employment.

The contract was signed by Preston S. Arkwright, president, and W. H. Wright, secretary of the company, and by J. F. Folsom, president, and E. M. Griffin, secretary of the union.

The statement said it was useless to appeal to workers to speed up production of war materials during continued indications of incompetence in the supplying of raw materials and inadequate use of available facilities.

Moscow Dictator Talks 40 Minutes Before Kremlin Rally.

MOSCOW, May 5.—(P)—Joseph Stalin told graduates of 16 army academies and nine military departments of civil schools today that on the basis of experience in modern warfare, the Russian army has been rebuilt organizationally and retrained considerably.

Stalin spoke for 40 minutes at solemn graduation exercises held in the Kremlin, the Russian news agency Tass reported.

He was given an ovation of exceptional force, the agency said, when he concluded his talk.

Government, army and navy officials attended.

Japan's Envoys Of Christianity Visit Atlanta

Four Avoid Political Topics, Emphasize Goodwill Aims.

By LUKE GREENE.

Four goodwill ambassadors from war-like Japan came to Atlanta yesterday preaching the gospel of the Prince of Peace.

Although they shunned international and political topics as if they were poison, the visit seemed to be in some way linked with the future relations between the United States and Japan.

They are among seven Japanese Christians who are touring the United States.

In the group which stopped in Atlanta yesterday were Dr. Soichi Saito, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of Japan; Tsunejiro Matsuyama, member of the Japanese parliament; his son, Dr. N. Matsuyama, member of the department of forestry of Japan, and the Rev. Dr. Michio Kozaki, pastor of the First Congregational church of Tokyo.

Cornered for an interview after addressing the Atlanta Baptist Ministers' Association, they seemed a bit nervous and ill at ease. This could have been caused by the fact they were anxious to catch their train. Actually, they impressed one more by what they would not say.

Matsuyama Silent.

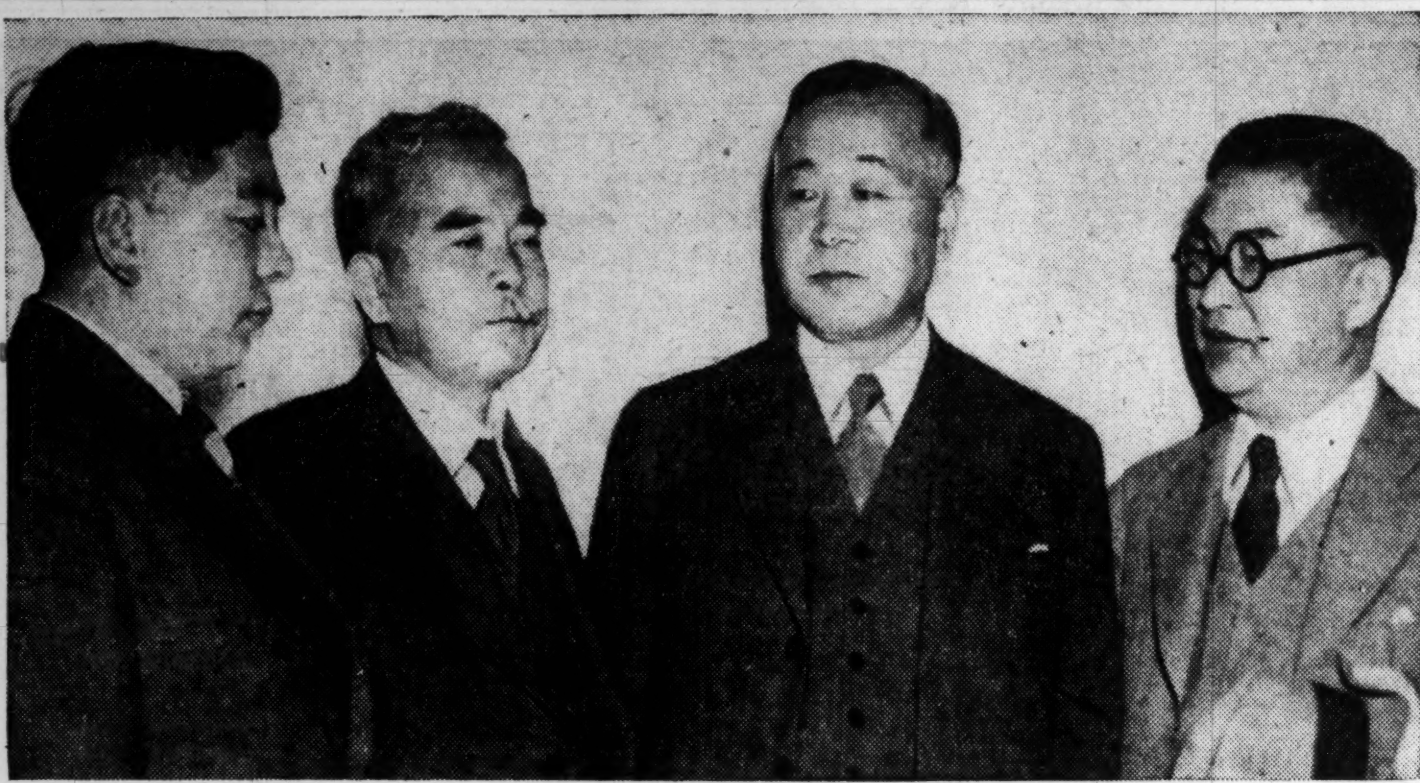

Matsuyama, the parliament member, closed up tighter than a jammed door when he learned he was being interviewed. He simply said he did not care to discuss political topics.

The spokesman for the group was Dr. Saito, who occasionally stopped to talk in Japanese with Matsuyama. He said the group was in the United States on a Christian mission and nothing else.

He emphasized that the Christian churches of Japan were paying the expenses of the deputation and that the members in no way represented the Japanese government. Yet, listening to them talk, one could not help thinking of the war and the present strained relations between the United States and Japan.

War Not the Solution.

"The deputation," Dr. Saito said, "is a unit in its conviction that war is not the way out of the present tension between the two nations. It will, therefore, strive to

ENVOYS FROM JAPAN—These four Christian ambassadors from Japan paid a visit to Atlanta yesterday, but insisted they were in no way linked with the political relations of the United States and Japan. Left to right are Dr. N. Matsuyama, member of the department of preserve peace. However, it does not think of its mission in political terms. It is determined to keep its mission a clear-cut Christian venture. As its name indicates, it is a Christian fellowship deputation."

Dr. Saito was asked to comment on how the rank and file of the Japanese people feel toward the United States.

He paused for a moment and held one of his private conferences with Matsuyama, then answered with a pleasant smile: "They want to be friends with the United States."

He denied that any missionaries had been expelled from Japan, contending they either had left of their own accord or had been recruited by their home boards.

Getting back to a more comfortable subject, Dr. Saito continued:

"We have been planning this trip for two years. It is not something new to us. Through mutual prayer and conference with American church leaders, we will earnestly strive to deepen the fellowship and understanding between the Christians of the two nations and explore the possibilities of cooperative effort for the future in the task of extending the Kingdom of God in a tangled and troubled world."

Going to Atlantic City.

The delegation spent Sunday and yesterday in Atlanta. They were en route from Riverside, Cal., to Atlantic City, N. J., where they will hold another conference this week.

Other members of the deputation now in the United States are Bishop Y. Abe, head of the Methodist church in Japan; Dr. Toyohiko Kagawa, famed religious leader of Japan, and Miss M. Kawai, principal of the Keisen Girls' school in Tokyo.

The Atlanta visitors were the guests of Dr. W. Harvey Clarke, who was a missionary in Japan for 40 years.

From Atlantic City the delegation will go to Chicago for another conference with American Christian leaders.

Suspect Admits 'Silent' Slaying, Dewey Reveals

Pretty Model's Observant Eye Leads to Arrest in Shooting.

NEW YORK, May 5.—(AP)—A pretty model's observant eye led to the arrest today of a former convict who District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey said confessed the "silent" gun slaying of an advertising executive less than 36 hours after the crime was committed.

The prisoner was Morris Mardavich, 23, convicted during the last six years for burglary and petty larceny. Dewey said that Mardavich admitted, after nine hours' questioning, the fatal shooting of Harry W. Maxwell, 41, manager of the E. C. Maxwell Advertising Company which is headed by his father.

Mardavich was arrested on a description furnished police by Mary Jane Cassidy, 24, blonde millinery model, who was sitting with Maxwell in his car early Sunday after leaving a night club. Of the two men who forced their way into the car, she observed that the face of one was pock-marked. Police, going through the Rogue's Gallery photographs, found a picture of Mardavich and went to his home, where they arrested him.

He was arraigned on a charge of suspicion of homicide and was held without bail for a hearing next Monday.

U. S. Charges Price Fixing To Milk Firms

Sheffield and Borden Companies Indicted by Federal Jury.

NEW YORK, May 5.—(AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted Sheffield Farms, Inc., the Borden Company, four subsidiary concerns and 33 individuals on charges of conspiracy to violate the Sherman anti-trust law and fix milk prices in the metropolitan area.

The true bill alleged that the defendants—which it said sold 60 per cent of all store-bought milk in the city—conspired to control the prices of wholesale milk from April 1, 1937, to date. Among the individual defendants were L. A. Von Bomel, now president of National Dairy Products Corporation and former president of Sheffield, and T. G. Montague, president of the Borden firm.

William H. Marcussen, president of the Borden farm products division of the Borden Company, declared in a statement that Borden officials "have not conspired with anyone to fix prices," adding that milk prices to producers, representing 50 per cent of the company's costs, had been fixed by federal and state governments since September, 1938. "The retail and wholesale prices which we received from customers in 1940 were such that our division not only did not make exorbitant profits, but actually operated at a loss for the year," he added.

WESTERN BREWERIES FACE U. S. CHARGES SEATTLE, May 5.—(AP)—Federal grand jurors today returned indictments charging 20 breweries in five western states and the brewers' institutes of Washington, Idaho and Oregon with price fixing. They also indicted on a similar charge tobacco wholesalers and retailers and several Seattle fish dealers.

Coast Guard Boards Seven Yugoslav Ships

Steps Taken To Learn If Crews Are Loyal to King.

NEW YORK, May 5.—(AP)—Coast Guardsmen today boarded seven Yugoslav ships in various United States ports and were reported "watching closely" or "inspecting" at least four others. Seventeen Yugoslav ships were said to be in United States ports.

Government officials were reluctant to comment on the action. A Coast Guard spokesman here said it was taken at the direction of the secretary of the treasury. In Washington, it was understood the boardings were made to determine whether the officers and crews were loyal to their King Peter—a friend of Britain—or to the new government set up by Germany after invading Yugoslavia.

It was said in the capital that if the men were found loyal to the King no further action against the vessels or the men would be taken. Franco Petrinovic, Yugoslav ship owner and agent for several Yugoslav vessels, said in New York the entire Yugoslav merchant marine, including 40 to 50 ships in ports throughout the world, had been co-operating with the British ministry of shipping. Officials asserted that the boardings were not to be confused with the United States' seizure of 69 Axis and Danish ships March 30. The boardings were described as "a precautionary measure."

"When we receive certain rumors we take certain action," a Coast Guard spokesman said.

Records Show No U. S. Ships Are in Egypt

Vessels of Other Nations Carried Goods There, Reports Say.

CAIRO, Egypt, May 5.—(AP)—United States consular records today showed that no American ships have arrived in Egyptian ports since the neutrality ban on their transit through the Red Sea was removed by President Roosevelt.

American war materials and commercial goods have been arriving, but they were borne by ships of other nationalities. Usually reliable diplomatic sources in Vichy, France, reported Saturday that 26 American ships loaded with war materials had arrived in the Suez Canal and that the ships were conveyed by United States warships.

In respect to the report that the ships were conveyed by United States warships the United States Navy Department at Washington said, "No United States Navy ships are employed in convoy duty."

Clinic Approved At College Park

College Park city council last night approved the renting of quarters at Columbia avenue and Main street for a health clinic.

Personnel for the clinic will be furnished by the Fulton County Board of Health. Furniture will be given by civic groups of College Park. At the present time, College Park is using the health clinic at East Point.

State Distributes Record Tax Sum

The state yesterday distributed a record sum to counties for road building as their share of the state's gasoline tax. The total disbursement was $347,721.81, and Horace Hixon, assistant state treasurer, said the greatest previous monthly allotment was $336,872.76 for October, 1940.

Amounts sent to the counties included: Bibb, $1,786.04; Chatham, $1,948.84; DeKalb, $2,130.83; Fulton, $4,050.91; Muscogee, $2,142.33, and Richmond, $1,936.45.

Neutral Irish Help To Battle Fire in Belfast

Heavy German Raid Ravages City in Ulster.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, May 5.—(AP)—Irish Free State brigades and ambulances from Dublin and Dundalk pitched in beside Ulstermen for a night-long co-operative battle against the ravages of a heavy German air raid here last night and early today.

(This dispatch was held up for hours in London by British censorship.) It was the second time such co-operative action had been undertaken by the old rival elements of this island—part at war, the rest precariously neutral. The first time fire brigades crossed the Ulster line to help put out Belfast fires after the heavy attacks of April 14-15.

Dublin Sees Planes. Today Dublin said planes of unidentified nationality had dropped bombs in County Donegal. Windows were shattered but no casualties were reported.

German planes were over Belfast today, apparently to survey the results of last night's attack which caused heavy damage to commercial, industrial and residential property in Northern Ireland.

Among plants which the German high command said had been fired by the raiders was that of Vickers-Armstrong, producers of some of Britain's best warplanes. Northern Ireland officials acknowledged heavy damage to Belfast's residential and industrial sections.

"Large numbers of incendiaries and high explosive bombs were dropped," the announcement said. "Casualties were heavy, but the loss of life was less than was expected in view of the intensity of the attack."

Direct hits with armor-piercing bombs on the 26,000-ton Atlantic-raiding battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau were claimed in London for the first time in an official communiqué of the British air ministry.

The hits were made Sunday night in the fifteenth try the RAF has launched in the last five weeks to ruin the big Nazi battle wagons which tied up at Brest in March for what the air ministry said was to have been a 24-hour stay.

Damage also was done to Brest's docks, both sides of the harbor mouth and buildings along the quays in Sunday night's attack, it was said.

There was a brief air raid alarm in the London area tonight, but no reports of bombing.

Sunday Closing To Be Requested

Filling stations and drug stores in College Park will be asked to close voluntarily from 10:30 to 12:30 o'clock Sunday mornings. A committee of College Park women last night appeared before the mayor and council with a request that an ordinance be passed compelling the two-hour closing on Sunday.

City Attorney George P. Whittman ruled that such an ordinance would be illegal, and council then passed a resolution directing Mayor George Harris to write letters to all druggists and service station operators requesting them to close.

Governor's Son Commissioned Reserve Ensign

Appointment Forwarded to Sixth District, Washington Says.

Reports from Washington yesterday said Herman Talmadge, son of Governor Talmadge, had been commissioned an ensign in the Intelligence Corps, Naval Reserve, although young Talmadge said he had received no official notification of his appointment.

Talmadge said he made application for a commission in the Naval Reserve and presumed that if it were granted he would be called into service immediately. The Washington reports said the commission was granted on recommendation of Congressman Carl Vinson, chairman of the House Naval Affairs Committee, and had been sent to the Sixth Naval District headquarters at Charleston, South Carolina.

Young Talmadge, who is a graduate of the University of Georgia, is now an Atlanta attorney.

again in the car, she said, "Bob, where is your pistol?" I was just about to tell her that it was on the back seat, where I usually kept it, when I heard the shot.

"I didn't see the flash of the gun or see her get it. She slumped over in her seat, but I thought she was playing some sort of joke. I didn't see any blood and didn't know she was wounded. Later, though, I realized something was wrong."

"I just didn't know what to do, so I drove to the home of my sister. From there we drove to the hospital."

Miss Morgan failed to regain consciousness. Doctors said the bullet penetrated her abdomen, on the right side, and came through the small of the back. In this connection, it was stated that internal bleeding caused death.

After taking the girl to the hospital, Gaines reported the incident to Deputy Sheriff Emmett Marler. He was questioned at length and held pending the coroner's inquest.

No Charges Planned. Ernest M. Morgan, the girl's father, who is foreman in a textile mill, said last night that he was "convinced it was an accident." He said he had "no reason to disbelieve any of Gaines' statements" and that no charges would be preferred by him.

He also discounted a suicide theory, pointing out that the girl was "always happy and in good spirits."

Miss Morgan was employed in a Marietta department store. She was described as being of the dark "Spanish type" of beauty. Besides her father, she is survived by her mother; three brothers, Richard, Berry and Robert Morgan, and two sisters, Sybil and Joan Morgan.

Gaines appeared visibly shaken by the tragedy. He denied that there had been any quarrel or argument between him and the girl.

"We were not engaged, but we were good friends," he said. "I don't know how it happened."

The funeral of Miss Morgan will be held at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the chapel of Mayes Ward.

Power behind the throne?

BY NORMAN CHANDLER, CHAIRMAN, NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS COMMITTEE

HOW do you do, Mr. King of America! How do you keep your self in power? What prevents some dictator from dethroning you, making you HIS subject?

How do you manage to know always what is going on, on all sides of you? How do you manage to go about your PRIVATE affairs without interference, yet control your public servants, run a vast democracy, banishing crooks and rewarding honest men?

WELL, LET'S SEE. The Founding Fathers wisely put freedom of speech and thought beyond the throttling hand of any would-be dictator. Therefore you are able to defend yourself with the weapons of truth and fact.

You have given to newspapers the job of unearthing the facts. Your papers, you say, must see to it that you know what is happening—good or bad.

Is the governor of your state doing his job well? Are the teachers in your schools performing their rightful duties? Is the health officer seeing to it that restaurants and food stores are clean? What do the markets have in the way of bargains today?

Easy questions for you to answer—because you have only to turn to your newspapers for all the facts and opinions and offerings of the day.

And so, behind that high and secure throne from which you, the people, rule, you keep a vast power. It is sometimes mislabeled the "Power of the Press."

NONSENSE! The press has no power except the power of truth and knowledge—power which it can give to you to use. If it were true that a newspaper—just any newspaper—had great "power," some sniveling communist or fascist sheet could take your democracy away from you! The American public has power over the newspapers. A power exercised daily simply by buying or not buying them.

It is truth, news, information, fact, that makes you a king. And so long as freedom of expression is the rule in America, your rule is secure.

Over 300 leading newspaper publishers join together to bring you this weekly message about the function of the press in a free nation. Newspaper Publishers Committee, 420 Lexington Ave., New York.

Yugoslavs Vow Never To Stop Fighting Nazis

Well-Equipped Warriors Harass Germans From Mountains.

By ROBERT ST. JOHN.

CAIRO, Egypt, May 5.—(AP)—Vowing never to lay down their arms as long as there is a German or an Italian enemy to shoot at, tens of thousands of well-equipped Yugoslav warriors who escaped the Axis invasion are continuing the fight on the sands of Egypt and in the wild mountains of their native Serbia and Bosnia.

Before I escaped from Yugoslavia, with a machinegun bullet in my leg, I saw whole regiments of those hot-blooded fighting men take their whistled pledges never to give up and then melt into the mountain fastnesses to harass the invaders.

Reforming Ranks. And now, here, in camps scattered over the desert sands, the Yugoslav flag flies side by side with the Union Jack. Hundreds of army and air force men of the shattered Yugoslav forces are reforming their ranks to continue the fight beside the British.

(Chancellor Hitler, in his Reichstag address yesterday, said that 344,162 Yugoslav officers and men had been captured in the Balkan campaign. Military authorities, prior to the start of hostilities, estimated that Yugoslavia would put at least 1,000,000 men into the field.)

I have talked with one of these Yugoslav pilots at various stops along the route of escape from Belgrade to Cairo. First I met him at Sarajevo. He just had learned his mother and sister were killed in the Belgrade bombing. He went off that night in a bomber to attack German military train concentration at Sofia.

Not Through Yet. I saw him when he returned. His face was grim, his jaw set. "They all landed where I wanted them to land," he said. "But I am not through yet."

I saw him next in Greece. He had gotten his plane that far.

FOR FIRE FIGHTERS—Five-year-old Rita Woodall, star of President's birthday balls here, mounted the huge fire truck at Five Points yesterday to illustrate her number at the "Fireman's Ball" at 9 o'clock Thursday night at the municipal auditorium, when Atlanta fire fighters will dance for the benefit of British firemen.

Nothing had weakened her determination to fight on. Now he is here. I listened again today to his story of how his sister was blown to bits in that gruesome Sunday morning when Belgrade was awakened by bombs instead of by church bells.

He and hundreds of his countrymen here talk a lot these days about history's parallel—how defeated Serb troops in the last war reformed their broken ranks and eventually smashed their way home to victory on the Salonika front.

Not Over Yet. Technically, Yugoslavia's war against the Axis may be over, but not in the minds of those guerrilla warriors in the mountains, those peasants who vowed vengeance in dimly lit cafes and crowded market places, or these refugee soldiers who got away to fight another day.

For 10 days as I fled down through the hill country of Yugoslavia to the Dalmatian coast I tried to file dispatches telling of the sullen retreat of these patriots into the mountains and of the oaths they swore never to surrender.

But the German onslaught was so swift and the confusion so great that I never had an opportunity to communicate with the outside world.

When news of the armistice came many of the Yugoslav soldiers simply gathered their guns, ammunition and equipment and

Venezuela Lad Walks 4 Years To See F. D. R.

Boy Scout, on Good-Will Mission, Braves 18,000 Perilous Miles.

By HAROLD MARTIN.

Julio Cesar Berrizbeitia, a slender, sun-darkened Boy Scout from Caracas, Venezuela, had been walking for four years, through some 18,000 miles of jungle, swamp, desert and mountain to bring a message to President Roosevelt.

When he first started out, back in 1937, he had it in mind just to make a nice little speech of good will to the President, on behalf of the public of Venezuela, the President of that country and his fellow Boy Scouts. Then he planned to turn around and go back home, after laying a wreath of flowers upon the statue of Simon Bolivar, the George Washington of his country.

Things have been happening, though, since Julio Cesar, with four companions, first set off on this walking trip, and his message is now of greater import. He wants to urge the President to do something, and do something quick, about the fact that Africa is so close to South America.

Greatly Concerned. Julio reads the newspapers and he views with great concern the fact that the Germans, for whom he has a very ugly Spanish name, seemed determined to sweep the dark continent. When they do that, he fears, the next move will be to follow up what they've already done in the way of social and economic penetration of the South American republics with a fledgling military occupation. And from there, he fears, they can come storming up the Isthmus of Panama, through Mexico, and be knocking at the gates of this country before you can say scat.

It will be tough going, as none knows better than he, for in the long trek two of his companions died, one at the hands, he says, of Indians in Colombia, the other of fever in Peru. But if he got through with nothing more than a few scars and a touch of fever, the Germans could too.

He is going to urge the president, if he gets an audience, to do something about the situation. There might be some islands taken over for naval and air bases. There might even be some coastal defenses set up in South America by North American troops. He also wants to urge a lot more international understanding, trade, tourist travel and such. He thinks the United States has not done too much to cultivate the friendship of his people. They have come in to trade, it's true. But they've remained aloof, not trying to learn the language or the customs of the people.

Likes Aviation.

He is going to ask permission of the President to remain in this country and study aviation. He thinks it would be a good thing if hundreds of young South Americans could be brought into this country and trained as pilots. Not to fight with American troops, but to go back home to form the nucleus of an air force in the countries of South America.

Julio is the last of five who set off on the fantastic walking trip. Two died as mentioned, two others got homesick and went back. He kept on. A dark, wiry fellow, part Spanish and part Indian, he travels in a Scout uniform bedecked with medals. He carries a pack and sleeps in the open when he has to. There is a bone-handled broad-bladed knife stuck in his boot top which he says is his only means of protection, and so far he hasn't had to use it, except once against a jaguar, part of the skin of which he now wears as a wrist band. No panhandler, he travels on his own money, which is sent on to him by his father, a pharmacist. Sometimes, though, he gets a little short of change, and a Boy Scout troop stakes him to a place to stay and a little cash.

Merit System Given Sanction By Talmadge

Milder Attitude Toward U. S. Noted in Governor's Acquiescence.

State officials yesterday sensed a general easing up in the attitude of Governor Talmadge toward the federal government as he announced he would permit establishment of a merit system in the State Health Department provided it was required by federal law.

A devout objector to any method of "freezing" employees in their jobs, the Governor said he thought this would be the ultimate result but was willing to go ahead with it if the federal government said it was necessary.

Although the Health Department has been informed its federal funds, approximating $730,000 a year, will be stopped unless provisions are made for a merit system, the Governor said he knew nothing about this.

"I'll put in a good one if the government wants it," the chief executive said good-naturedly.

Dr. T. F. Abercrombie, director of the Health Department, who has returned from a trip to Washington, said arrangements probably could be made to begin setting up a merit system by July 1.

The State Department of Public Welfare has been in turmoil since the change of administration over the establishment of a merit system. Last week new examinations were ordered, the new merit board containing the first examinations given under the Rivers administration were inadequate.

Governor Accepts Fund Allocation

Governor Talmadge yesterday approved the allocation of $1,209,600 in federal funds to 14 Georgia counties for housing and slum clearance projects.

Richard C. Job, executive director of the housing board of which the Governor is chairman, said 10 counties would receive $100,800 and four others would get $50,400. Those getting the large amount are Greene, Jones, Johnson, Laurens, Dodge, Wheeler, Treutlen, Appling, Ben Hill and Jenkins. Those receiving the smaller sum are Jefferson, Montgomery, Toombs and Tattnall.

Jury To Study State Pardons, Fulton Salaries

Morrison Indicted in Hit-Run Case at May-June Term.

The May-June grand jury for Fulton, that was urged by its predecessor last week to continue an investigation into gubernatorial pardons, was sworn in yesterday by Superior Court Judge John D. Humphries.

It immediately elected W. W. Burns, a brick manufacturer, as its foreman, and selected M. G. Clark Jr., vice president of the W. R. Hoyt Company, as secretary.

Also on its agenda will be a consideration of some sort of stabilized salary program for the county, but the jury did not anticipate any special sessions this week and soon after its organization adjourned until Friday morning.

Among the half dozen indictments approved before its adjournment was a charge of involuntary manslaughter filed against C. T. Morrison, 25, of 559 Holder-ness street, in connection with the hit-run death of Mrs. Emma Powell, of 218 Crumley street, last Wednesday night. The accident occurred as she was walking across Central avenue at Crumley.

In his charge to the grand jury Judge Humphries reviewed the growth of crime in the Atlanta section, and added that "perhaps the judges of the criminal divisions should tighten up on the granting of probation and exercise this function only in extreme cases."

He said that in most cases the trial judge was requested for probation proceedings with "10 to 30 days" after the hearing.

Jurors for the May-June term are W. W. Burns, 1112 McLynn avenue, foreman; Willard H. Craig, 580 Linwood avenue, vice foreman; M. G. Clark Jr., 94 Peachtree circle, secretary; A. P. McElroy, 787 Virginia circle, assistant secretary.

Arthur Clarke, 17 West Andrews drive; C. R. Westbrook, Route 1, Roswell; Fred Taylor, Hightower road; Lawrence Smith, 630 Gillette avenue; W. K. Rivers, 18 West Andrews drive; A. M. Rainwater, Alpharetta; I. W. Tull, 2930 Howell Mill road; C. M. Sewell, 201 Peachtree Battle avenue; W. G. Allen, Route 5, Atlanta.

John A. Burgess, 2 Sixteenth street; Matthew Harper St., 1489 Lanier place; M. H. Dodd, 978 Woodbourne drive; B. D. Fitzgerald, 126 Westminster drive; R. O. Miller, Fairburn; Joseph Whitner, 5 Delmont drive; Sloan Truscott, 1995 Gordon road; H. N. Alford, 2180 Fairhaven circle; C. B. Smith, 449 Langhorn street.

Two Months—Or Less

It is becoming more evident, day by day, that Britain, without the help of the United States, cannot defeat Germany. Alone, the British commonwealth of nations has, and can continue to, put up a magnificent fight, but it is doubtful if any man today believes Britain could win if American aid were withdrawn.

American aid, however, has been pledged, pledged to the extent that this nation is obligated to make certain the defeat of Nazism. This country is in the war to the end, regardless of what may come. Hitler recognizes the fact. When, in his speech of Sunday, he spoke of the weapons preparing for use by German troops next year, he conceded there is a long fight ahead. He also conceded, by those words, that he has to defeat not only Britain, but the United States as well. For informed military and naval experts, almost unanimously, are of the opinion that without American support Britain could not survive much more than two months longer.

This, interpreted into cold logic, means that this country cannot delay its full participation in the war longer than another two months. By full participation is meant actual, "shoot-ing" co-operation with Britain wherever circumstances indicate the need.

And the place where that need is vital is the Atlantic ocean.

If withdrawal of our aid would spell British defeat in two months, sinking of the ships bearing that aid is, in practical result, exactly the same. Therefore, as surely as day follows night, the necessity for actual delivery, to the point where they may be used against the enemy, of American goods, by this country, is essential. That this means placing the United States Navy in the combat for control of the Atlantic is evident.

It will be criminally tragic if this nation, in congress or out, too long delays and procrastinates, by long drawn debate or weak hesitancy, on this issue. For it will mean, in simple language, that this nation will have to fight a world-powerful Germany, alone, instead of with so staunch an ally as Britain. And, ringed by foes as we should be, there is extreme doubt whether we could defeat a Germany which had the industrial and raw material resources of all the rest of the world to draw upon.

Too, with Britain gone, the site for the struggle between the United States and Germany—with Italy and Japan as added foes—would be no other than our own shores.

President Roosevelt has said those who believe Britain will lose the fight are "just dumb." He must have meant that Britain, backed to the hilt by the United States, cannot lose. For, without this country, Britain, in all probability, will lose before this year is ended.

And, if we, therefore, are the difference between victory and defeat—why delay any step, distasteful though it may be, necessary for that victory?

Some have said we are not ready to fight, in materials or trained men. But the psychological effect of actual entry by this country into the war against Germany would be worth many navies and many divisions of armored troops, if it comes in time—within the next two months.

And it must not be forgotten that this country is now producing planes for war at the rate of 18,000 a year; that the President's famous request for an annual output of 50,000 planes will be exceeded, and lifted to 80,000 a year, when present defense programs are in full operation.

War tanks, too, are rolling from American assembly lines in ever-increasing speed. All we need to crush Hitler, is to wipe out his supremacy in those two items of modern warfare, planes and tanks.

But we must keep safe the life route of the Atlantic, to carry those planes and tanks to the place where they can pour their overwhelming weight of bombs and shells against the Nazi war machine.

In Brazil, plastics extracted from the coffee bean are in production, and—who knows?—made up into cups, they might lend a coffee flavor to coffee.

The English-Speaking Union

Tomorrow, at the Capital City Club, the Atlanta branch of the English-Speaking Union will hold the final meeting of its present season. It will take the form of a luncheon, at 12:30 o'clock and the principal speaker will be Dr. Alexander Guerry, president of the University of the South, at Sewanee, Tenn. Dr. Guerry is one of the south's most distinguished educators. He has served as president of the University of Chattanooga and as president of the Tennessee College Association.

He saw much active service during the first World War, serving with the 320th Machinegun Battalion of the 82nd Division, which trained at Camp Gordon.

This meeting marks the close of the first year of existence of the Atlanta branch of the English-Speaking Union. Its purpose is to draw closer in better understanding and in cultural appreciation the English-speaking peoples of the world. Dr. Guerry's subject for Wednesday, in line with this purpose, will be "Beauty and History in England."

The activities of this organization are of exceptional importance in view of the tragic developments in the world in recent years. After the present war is over, while other organizations created for the period of the emergency will have served their splendid purposes and closed their activities, this union will continue. It is the belief of a vast majority of the thinking people in both the United States and in Britain that the only means by which peace and freedom may eventually be brought to the world is by closest co-operation in all international affairs between the two countries.

If this is true, which few persons of informed understanding can doubt, the present activities of the English-Speaking Union assume outstanding importance.

Let us turn now to the latest tidings from Tokyo and see what's doing with the Far Eastern Aryan (sun-tan division).

One of Many Crops

Not many Georgia farmers will be able to take advantage of the discovery on the Henry Ford plantation that lettuce can profitably be grown in reclaimed marshlands. Unusual technique is required, together with marketing knowledge, proper land composition and facilities for handling the product. But some Georgians will be able to enter this new field, and therein lies the great importance of the Ford plantation development.

The state must face the fact that huge cotton markets are a thing of the past for many years, if not forever. There will remain a national market, yet even this is endangered by increasing production costs in this country and lowered costs in other lands. There will be no one-crop substitute for this cotton. Only through proper diversification can the slack in land-use be taken up and the over-all economy of the south placed upon a permanent foundation.

Some Georgians can turn to the growing of lettuce as one crop, given the proper conditions, among many others. Some will make moderate use of tung orchards. Yet others will find profit in intelligent hog production, livestock raising, poultry farming. It may be the production of cotton for the stalk rather than for the fiber itself will be profitable for many—for use in rayon production, plastics and other discoveries of modern science.

But the time rapidly is coming when all of these many factors must be woven into the whole which will mean either a rich southern agricultural economy teamed with a balanced industrial structure, or abandoned acres and perpetual poverty for the few who stay.

Next to the durable Briton, no one can take it night after night like the home movie nut, looking at his own vacation films.

A government statistic shows the average milk bottle is good for 35 round trips. Unless an alley cat in the meantime has cried in the night.

Experiments with wood as food have also produced an edible paper. Just the thing, we should say, for the trapped spy who must swallow the blueprint.

Georgia Editors Say:

SENATOR BYRD BAPS PERKINS

(From The Athens Banner-Herald.)

When Senator Byrd, of Virginia, delivered his attack on Miss Perkins it should have caused her to sit up and take notice that the people of the United States are ready and willing for her to retire from the office of secretary of labor. It is alleged that she is being held in office by President Roosevelt. That is, no doubt, true, and, if such is the case, we cannot understand his purpose. She has been shown to be thoroughly incapacitated on a number of occasions, yet she holds on to her job like a leech in the sands on the coast.

As Senator Byrd says, if the President realized her unpopularity, there would be no trouble for him to accept her resignation without any delay. If he will read what Senator Byrd has said of his findings, we do not believe that there will be any further delay in the matter of accepting her resignation. The sooner Miss Perkins retires from office and a man or woman who is competent to fill this office is appointed by the President, not only that department of the government will be the better off, but the people of this country will be better satisfied, especially those who have occasion to deal with matters coming under the head of the Labor Department.

THE CAPITAL PARADE

By JOSEPH ALSOP AND ROBERT KINTNER.

NEWS IN THE AIR WASHINGTON, May 5.—A report of the British air ministry on the performance of American long-range bombers is the first piece of really good news that has reached Washington for many dark days. Both in test flights and in actual attacks on military objectives, the American ships have turned out to be pretty nearly the best of their class in the war.

The two sorts of bombers causing the jubilation are the Boeing B17 and the Consolidated B24. The first is commonly known as the flying fortress, and the second is a land version of the Navy's flying boat. The flying fortress has proved able to carry immense loads over immense distances at a speed—very high for a bomber—of 330 miles an hour at optimum flying height. Furthermore, it has also proved able to reach heights well above 30,000 feet with maximum load, which means that it can fly over its objective well beyond the range of antiaircraft guns. The report on the B24 is equally encouraging.

The news is particularly significant for two reasons. First, the B17s now in Britain are the obsolete model C. An order of B17Ds has already been completed at the Boeing plant, and retooling for an even better ship is now in process. Second, the Germans retooled their aircraft plants to make long-range bombers last November. The result was the famous Focke-Wulf Courier, now the most serious threat in the battle of the Atlantic, accounting for more than 50 per cent of recent shipping losses. The performance of the B17s appears to be better than the Focke-Wulfs. The Germans can hardly retool again in the near future. And thus, with the improved American bomber models already on the way, superiority of bomber types is at least insured.

"IT CAN'T BE DONE" Of course there is the usual fly in the ointment. Plentifully few of the big American bombers have reached Britain to date. A certain number are waiting in this country to be flown across the Atlantic, but even including these and the production scheduled for this summer there will be an impressive force of American bombers in Britain for a good many months. Again, as usual, the fault for this must be about evenly divided between the British and ourselves. Our Air Corps office and others vainly urged the British to order large numbers of the big American bombers long before they finally consented to do so. The British air experts apparently regarded the importance attached to the flying fortresses and B24s in this country as another bee in the American bonnet. On the other hand, the British error might have been corrected by an adequate American scope of preparation.

Fortunately, however, the prior months of jockeying by the numerous agencies concerned, the aircraft program is being intelligently revamped and expanded. The Office of Production Management, where "it can't be done" has become something like a battle cry in aircraft matters, has been virtually superseded in this field by a joint committee dominated by the War Department officials, but including both OPM and British representatives. Contracts tremendously increasing aircraft manufacturing facilities are now quietly being negotiated, with the intention of getting money later from congress to pay for the additional planes. The entire emphasis of the program is being shifted away from pursuit planes, which are to be manufactured chiefly in England, towards a concentration on heavy bombers.

There are grave obstacles still to be surmounted. For one thing, although air predominance should obviously be the first objective of strategic planning, an air program of sufficient scale is still partly blocked by the Navy's corner on first priorities on both raw materials and semifinished products.

Then, too, shocking though it may seem at such a juncture, the psychology of business-as-usual has not been exorcised from the defense effort. By the standards of the past few weeks, American air industry has shown what it can do by a production in the past month far exceeding the most hopeful expectations, both in tactical and trainer planes. And if the new program is not sabotaged by its bureaucratic enemies, the British-American striking force in the air should be really formidable next spring, and all but irresistible in the spring of 1943.

TIME IS SHORT The program can hardly be allowed to fail, since it is essential to the new war strategy that military and naval experts have come to consider the loss of the Mediterranean as almost a foregone conclusion. The key to the Mediterranean is Egypt, and where the British in Egypt were thought to have nearly an even chance ten days ago, recent information puts the German and Italian numerical superiority, and therefore the odds against the British, at a far higher figure. Because of the weakness of American policy, Japan is likely to move in the East, and it will be difficult to restore the situation there until the war is over. Thus, tremendous bombing attacks on the continent, with Britain as the base, may soon be the best offensive method still open to the democracies.

Nor is complacency justifiable, even if the air program goes through on schedule. British morale might stand up under the loss of the Mediterranean alone. But coupled with such terrible bombing attacks as that on Plymouth, where the people have at last been driven to evacuate their battered homes, and that on Bristol, where the center of the city has been completely destroyed, even the magnificent courage of the British cannot be permanently relied on.

Besides the main deficiency in the battle of the Atlantic, certain other serious British deficiencies are developing under the stress of these weeks. For instance, the President has now been asked to permit training of British pilots in this country. Under the circumstances, the best informed men here guess the period in which the United States will still have an opportunity to change the course of the war by active intervention as about two months at the outside.

Teaching Geography.

Someone asked me, the other day, why I didn't, in this column, point out how difficult it must be to teach a class in geography. These days and times, the idea being that the rapid change in national boundaries in Europe makes knowledge of yesterday, so to speak, useless today.

There have been innumerable gags on this theory. The best, I think, is that where the bright young pupil asks his geography teacher if she will go by the first or final editions of the morning newspaper in marking the examination papers.

The theory is all right as a basis for such gags, which serve a good purpose in bringing a lighter touch into life which is far too somber in cold actuality. But personally I think the theory is all wrong.

I think it must be, comparatively speaking, a cinch to teach geography today, to what it used to be, say ten years ago.

For the crucial nature of world developments has aroused world interest in other countries, other places on the globe, which was unknown not so many years ago.

The Oil Of Iraq.

For instance, the average boy or girl who reads, even casually, the daily papers knows, today, that oil is a great product of Iraq. He knows, too, where Iraq is on the map and its significance in regard to the battle for control of the Mediterranean.

He can put his finger unerringly on Tobruk and Tripoli and even knows where Solum is. To say nothing of Alexandria, Addis Ababa and Dessie.

Whereas, ten years ago, it is quite likely he would have had difficulty in locating the Mediterranean itself.

That same boy knows just about the location of Singapore and its strategic importance in the east. He is better acquainted with Australia and New Zealand, with Japan and the Dutch East Indies than his father was with Indiana. In fact, he may himself know more about Europe or Asia than he knows about the state of Oregon. That is, if he lives in Georgia.

He knows about the Ukraine and its great production of wheat and he knows the Nazis are using captured Norway as a source of fish oil, valuable in making munitions for war.

He has traced upon the map the spreading disease of Nazism in Europe and he has studied the reasons why Japan is such a menace in the East—and has learned her vulnerability too.

He can name scores of cities in Britain, in Germany, in France and in Greece. He knows where the mountain ranges that impede mechanized warfare are to be found and he can tell you, without delay, where are the Dodecanese islands and why they are important.

Shucks, teaching geography should be the easiest job in the world, today. That is, if the teacher is bright enough to keep pace with the eager young minds of her own class.

The Two Idiots.

Did you hear the story of the two idiots riding together in an automobile? Says one to the other, "We must be getting to a town."

Asks the other, "Why?" "Well," responds the first, "we're running over more people than we were."

Or the story about the Chicago man who found a gallon of corn whiskey.

After taking three or four drinks, he saw droves of pink elephants, cerise alligators and purple whatchacalls. So he decided to open a museum. Rented a vacant store and put up a sign, "Admission, 25 cents."

So, when disgruntled buyers of 25-cent admission tickets found only a completely vacant store, they complained to the authorities. And an officer was sent around to investigate.

When the policeman arrived, the proprietor of the "museum," took him off in a corner, gave him three drinks of the corn whiskey and then sold the cop a half interest in the business for $300!

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Lecture

NEW YORK, May 5.—This is my annual lecture to the newspaper editors, delivered in the tone and spirit of a professional newspaperman who perceives that the free press of this country has developed a disgusting vice which has degraded the character of our journalism and brought discredit on one of the most important institutions of the nation. When Harold Ickes sneers at the press we know he speaks from the heart of a man who tried to be a journalist and like so many other embittered casualties of competitive life, bears malice toward an occupation in which he was unable to distinguish himself. He has contradicted himself, moreover, in holding, once that editors wrongfully suppressed opinions favorable to the New Deal and, later, that the editors could not escape responsibility for expressions by columnists hostile to the administration by pleading that they were merely providing a form for free discussion.

Incidentally, when, a few years ago, Mr. Ickes charged me with submitting to censorship, I, being quick at repartee, reminded him that only a short time before he had cancelled a speech which he had planned to deliver, because President Roosevelt thought it best that he should keep a still tongue in his head on that topic at that time.

I rather hold with Mr. Ickes' second thought, that editors have a responsibility to the country and to the free press, to exercise careful judgment in editing, or, if you will, censoring matter which they buy from the package-goods syndicates. Of course that applies to these dispatches, because I am a columnist, or trained seal, and w k under a constant awareness that it were wrong for me to use the white paper which is ordinarily allotted to me six days a week to blackguard personal enemies or to advertise the careers or other interests of personal friends. Any man or woman who has been really schooled in the newspaper business as a reporter instinctively will investigate the facts of any given case and try to give a fair report, although, of course, some are more thorough and intelligent than others.

Party To Offense

Certainly there is no excuse for the daily presentation all over the United States of canned journalism by individuals who are notoriously dishonest and personally vindictive in print to persons who decently despise their loathsomeness. When it has been shown beyond question and without challenge, by chapter and verse, that a syndicate feature has a high rating of deliberate falsehood, unconfirmed and scurrilous rumor, scandal affecting the reputations of women and psychopathic malice, and that the author of such filth has none of the qualifications which a city editor would demand of the greenest cub, the editor who attempts to evade his own responsibility makes himself a party to the offense against the public and the freedom of the press. And no editor among the many who are guilty of this practice can plead that he does not know the facts. They all know exactly what they are doing.

They know, moreover, that any reporter on their local staffs who habitually turned into the desk false reports affecting the reputations of local citizens would be canned for cause. The explanation commonly given by editors and publishers for the printing of such bestiality is that it makes circulation and that if they did not publish it their rivals would. That, however, only aggravates their offense against the community in general and the press in particular. They have no more right to purvey poison for the sake of circulation than a doctor has to cultivate the drug habit in his patients so that they will have to come back for new prescriptions.

Misuse Of Columns

This is no proposal that discussion and opinion be suppressed or that journalistic initiative and enterprise be put down. Editors know the difference between discussion and opinion based on fact and legitimate controversy and the malignant exploitation of the personal enmities and resentments of easily recognizable and notorious vermin. They can tell at a glance the difference between an honest professional job of reporting and a scandal picked up in a New York saloon and disseminated with hidden intent to injure a victim through the newspapers the country over. They have a professional duty to prevent this misuse of their columns. And American patriotism has become a dirty thing if it has sunk so low as to require stimulation through so vile an agency.

It will be noted, I hope, as a measure of the sincerity and morality of Mr. Ickes' frequent admonitions of our press that, although he has found much else to criticize, he has, by his silence on this most evil and humiliating vice of American journalism, indicated a tolerance for anything, however foul, which sympathizes with his government.

Word Stories

By W. Worthington Wells

I have been told that it is a fallacy to believe that riches always bring happiness.

Fallacy is a noun pronounced FAL-la-cy with the accent on the first syllable. The (a) in (fal) is short like that in (cal) of California. The second syllable is pronounced like (ia) in last.

A thing or condition that appears to be deceptive, false, misleading, not founded on known facts, an erroneous idea, etc., may be referred to as fallacy.

It is believed that Dr. Cook's claim to have discovered the north pole was a fallacy. The striking of the clock in Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" is a fallacy.

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH MCGILL.

VOICE THAT BREATHED O'ER EDEN It saddened me, somewhat, to read about "Aunt Lizzie" Deever's, of Sapulpa, Okla.

Here, all these years, we have been thinking of Miss Peggy Joyce as an unusual sort of middle-aged lady because she had four or five husbands.

Aunt Lizzie, hale and hearty at the age of 110, was contemplating her tenth husband, but decided against it. John Nigh, a neighbor, a young fellow of 77, was the favored young man, but John, it seems, has a masculine failing. He gets "mad" too easy.

Aunt Lizzie has not divorced any husbands. She has plighted her troth to, and married, nine husbands. Nine times the voice that breathed o'er Eden has sighed into Aunt Lizzie's ears. Nine times she has smiled up at her man.

Aunt Lizzie just kept on living. The husbands died off. No doubt the pneumonia got one. Perhaps the rheumatism and arthritis took another. A bad heart probably removed another. At any rate, they left, one by one, even as the leaves of autumn go one by one.

Nine times Aunt Lizzie went to the altar. And nine times to the grave. But each time, at this latter stopping point in man's mysterious journey on earth and beyond, she turned back.

Now, at the mellow age of 110 years, Aunt Lizzie is contemplating marriage. And John Nigh has been weighed in the balance an found wanting because of a temper.

What a pity! Of course John was a little young for her. After all, there is a slight difference in their ages. When Aunt Lizzie got to be an old woman, John, who is 33 years younger, no doubt would be just feeling his oats and be at the stage where he was pinching the gals or making eyes at them behind Aunt Lizzie's back. Perhaps it is all for the best. Not always do these June and January marriages work out. And if John has a temper—well, experience knows best. Aunt Lizzie, shooing away from the small Cupid, knows best.

HUMAN FRAILITIES What really disturbs me, however, is that of all the sciences and institutions, only marriage has failed to keep pace with the times.

The story does not say, but one safely may assume that if one is 110 years old and has outlived nine husbands, the first marriage must have been at about the age of 16 or 17.

James Polk was president. Mexico and the United States were at war if Aunt Lizzie married at the age of 16. Perhaps her first husband may have gone off to war and got killed. The record doesn't say.

When Aunt Lizzie was born the French Revolution was going strong. Thomas Jefferson was ambassador to France when Aunt Lizzie made her debut in this life of ours.

If she married at 16, people were talking about the first telegraph line in America, from Baltimore to Washington. Louis Phillips was dethroned in France during the first year of her first marriage, and the Second Republic established.

Ten years after her first year of marriage, John Brown went to Harper's Ferry and was dislodged by a young lieutenant of the army, Robert E. Lee. He left a ghost, though, which was to walk through the years to Appomattox.

Aunt Lizzie saw one of the first trains replace the ox cart and the stage coach. She has lived to see Charles A. Lindbergh fly the Atlantic and to see regular passenger traffic follow after him.

The Mexican, Spanish, World War Number One and World War Number Two all pass within her ken. She has known persons who knew Thomas Jefferson and Andrew Jackson. Maybe she talked once with a man who knew Alexander Hamilton. It may be that one of her husbands was with Davy Crockett at the Alamo. There just isn't any telling.

And all this discourages me.

MR. METHUSELAH Mr. Methuselah, who watched his vitamin B-1 pills and who ate only a salad and a glass of milk for lunch, counting calories the while, lived to be 969 years. I think it was that, I haven't time to look it up.

The late Don Marquis, in his memorial poem celebrating Mr. Methuselah's accomplishments, had him say, "The way to live for a thousand years is to live, bigish."

Mr. Methuselah might have made it, too, but Mr. Marquis found, by research, that a jealous husband bumped him off for flirting with his bride.

I wish Mr. Methuselah might have made it, because he could have supplied some valuable research material.

The point is—through all these years marriage, as an institution, hasn't improved.

Husbands, and even prospective husbands, get too dinged mad. And wives, too, get sort of ornery. Mr. John High, who has been refused as Aunt Lizzie's suitor, might have felt he was in for a little nagging. When he wanted to read a magazine, Aunt Lizzie, out of the wealth of experience gained by having nine husbands, might have said, "All you do is sit around with your nose in a book. Why don't you tell me what you've been doing at the office all day?"

And John, the young bridegroom, would have squirmed, and said: "Why, nothing. Nothing. Just the usual thing."

"I know," Aunt Lizzie would have said, "you wait until we get around company and then you tell me the most interesting things that happen around the office."

And then John, of course, would get mad and Aunt Lizzie would have told herself again she shouldn't have married him in the first place.

It all goes to show that while we have improved engines, refrigerators, guns and have invented new plastics, we haven't done a dinged thing with human nature. If we had Aunt Lizzie would go ahead and get married to John High.

Willie Forgets to Mow the Lawn But Remembers the Promised Movie Ticket

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

A policeman whose chief interest was gardening rented a tumble-down house at the edge of town, being willing to endure any temporary discomfort to get two acres of ground.

As soon as he moved in, he began to transform the place. He repaired and painted the house. Laboring early and late with mattock and spade, he changed a wilderness of gulleys and weed pests and matted turf into a garden spot.

The next time he saw his landlord, he was told that his rent would be higher the next year.

"But look at what I've spent on the place," he cried. "My labor alone has added hundreds of dollars to the value of your property."

"That's exactly the point," said the landlord. "The place is worth more, and I'll have to get more rent."

That incident doubtless has been duplicated in every town in America.

To the renter it seems grossly unfair, yet there is nothing in law or equity that assures one man a return for voluntary improvements to another's property.

Does it prove the landlord a greedy and dishonest Shylock? No, he is business man, and business is the impersonal game of making money.

The fault that made the transaction "unfair" was the cop's failure to get a long-term lease or the landlord's signed agreement to pay him for improvements.

My Friends... you'll never find my name engraved upon a scroll of fame. Of many deeds which I have done there is no great, outstanding one. I never scaled a fortress wall nor sang in operatic hall; I never wrote a famous book; gals don't give me the second look, for I am timid, backward, meek and have a terrible physique.

I have not charged with a brigade, nor even led an Elks' parade, for I'd be stiffer than a cove if I got straddle of a horse. At music I'm an awful bum, I cannot even beat a drum. I was no leader in my school except, I was the leading fool. I couldn't read, I couldn't write; they called me "Idiot's Delight." I fiddled around just like old Nero and marks I got were minus zero.

Although my life is filled with dross, it has not been a total loss. One thing I've done in my short span is seldom done by any man. One day there came upon my scene a penny chewing gum chime. I dropped a penny it its spot and

Just Too Bad.

Bitter compliment from Miss Jane Thomas, of 465 Candler street, arrived too late for me to do anything more than express my sympathy—which I now extend.

Miss Thomas gets hungry about noon, so she goes to lunch—or luncheon, as the case may be.

For two days, she protests, during her hour's feeding time she has been slapped on the back by two strangers and she is sore between her shoulder blades. When she tried to express surprise, shock, indignation and what-all the stranger would ask:

"Are you that Hamilton woman?"

Miss Thomas wrote to ask me to say she isn't that Hamilton woman and if I'd tell her what kind of clothes that Hamilton woman wears she'd wear something else, if she had to go out and buy it.

I am sorry—but I don't know anything about that Hamilton woman except what I saw in the papers. I did not meet her. Anyway, she is gone now and the incident may be considered closed. And Miss Thomas may go out to lunch instead of bringing a sandwich to her office in a paper bag.

night. We hardly realize they're here before they're gone.

But here come the azaleas—gorgeous splashes of color. No shrinking violet about the azalea.

To the fourth floor offices yesterday an old man—a regular caller—brought a big basket of wild honeysuckle. Not azalea—though some folk mix up the names. The fragrance was overpowering. Which reminds me our back fence may be covered with it. I haven't looked to see, but I'm going to.

Mighty attractive woman in the corridor as I came down to work. "Howdy do," said I, because I knew I knew her.

"You don't know who I am," she retorted. And told me. "But I didn't forget you."

"Lady," I came back. "You remembered me because you naturally expected to see me here. But I'll bet if you'd driven up to your home and found me in your front yard you couldn't have placed me."

"Maybe you're right, at that," she admitted.

Boston Transcript has ceased publication. After 111 years.

What will the Bostonians of the Back Bay do without their "Transcript"? It's always been the broad "a" with its readers.

It was ultra-dignified, ultra-conservative, ultra-academic. It had no reporters. They were all journalists. It was a grand newspaper and as dull as the Congressional Record.

Young woman acquaintance who was in town last week said she thought she'd go back home and "just sit" for the rest of the year.

Good Morning

By LOUIE D. NEWTON.

The Song of Solomon, chapter 8, verse 6, found splendid fulfillment last Sunday afternoon when, more brightly than the shafts of sunshine that fell through the arched windows of the First Baptist meeting house was the light in the tear-stained faces of hundreds of young Christians—the light that never was on land or sea. Everyone in that vast throng of friends felt deeply the poignant sense of loneliness which the death of Mrs. H. Aden Taylor, familiarly known as "Jill," had brought to her countless admirers, but stronger than the icy touch of death was the love and peace of God which passeth all understanding.

Colonel "Jack" Taylor, illustrious husband of the young Mrs. Taylor, handed the minister a slip of paper just before the funeral service on which he had written these words:

"Life, for the Christian, is like a college course. Death is merely the commencement."

And that, my friends, is more eloquent than any words I might ever write about that impressive scene last Sunday afternoon. It interprets, I fully believe, the experience through which the lovely Marie Peeler Taylor has passed. We were there in a moment of remembrance of the triumphs of her earthly pilgrimage. Her body was sleeping beneath the flower bedecked casket, which on Monday afternoon was interred in the family burial place in Anna, Ill., the birthplace of Mrs. Taylor. Her spirit was at home with Jesus, released from the limitations of time, entering upon the life that endures.

She was a talented musician, working for some time with her husband in a midwestern radio network in a program known as "Jack and Jill." A decade ago the Taylors came to Atlanta, where they wrought a remarkable success with the young people of the public schools. The Girls' Military Band, now nationally famous, was but one of the notable achievements which Mrs. Taylor aided in organizing and perfecting. This brilliant musical organization will be but one of the living monuments to the memory of Mrs. Taylor. None of us ever forget how they sobbed as the body was borne through their ranks Sunday afternoon, but they looked beyond their tears and rejoiced that love is stronger than death. With Whittier they could say:

*Alas! for him who never sees
The stars shine through the cypress trees;
Who, hopeless, lays his dead
away,
Nor looks to see the breaking day,
Across the mournful marble
play;
Who hath not learned in hours
of faith,
The truth to flesh and sense
unknown,
That life is ever Lord of Death,
And Love can never lose its own.*

Joy Wins 'Oomph' Title at Tech High

"Joy Beaverduck," wife of "Smilin' Jack," the comic appearing daily in The Constitution, won an "oomph" contest conducted by the Rainbow, Tech High school weekly, by a 10-to-1 vote yesterday.

The contest, held to determine the daily comic strip character with the most "oomph," drew a total of 4,500 votes and "Joy" came through with more than 1,000 votes.

Zack Mosley, author of the strip, was to be asked by the Tech High boys to draw a large picture of his character for the school library, but due to the course of events in "Smilin' Jack," Joy was last seen drowning—the boys are afraid they might have to select a new queen. Yesterday requests were received from the students to detain Mosley whether or not "Joy Beaverduck" is dead.

House Member Favors An Ultimatum to Japan

WASHINGTON, May 5.—(AP)—Representative Ellis, Democrat, Arkansas, told the house today that he favored giving Japan one week to quit the Rome-Berlin Axis and, if that nation took no action, then "I'm ready to start polishing her off the face of the earth."

He made the statement after saying he had read headlines which quoted Adolf Hitler as saying "We can beat the world" and quoting Foreign Minister Matsuooka, of Japan, as inviting President Roosevelt to visit that nation.

Ellis said the chances were "50-50" that "we will come into deadly combat with Hitler and that Japan will stab us in the back."

Pulse of Public

LET US ALL LISTEN TO WILLKIE TOMORROW
Editor Constitution: The National Chapter of the Committee to Defend America names Wednesday, May 7, Freedom Rally, and other cities over the nation are observing this day in the name of Liberty.

From Madison Square Garden Wendell Willkie will again take the air. What he says to thousands of loyal Americans there—and to millions via the radio—is sure to be written into history as an American expression of our country's rightful stand. Mr. Willkie's attitude ever since the last election has been a remarkable one, and an attitude that must, indeed, bring pride to every American heart.

Let's all listen to Mr. Willkie on May 7. His message can not fail to be important.

DR. BRADY CRITICIZED BY ATLANTA DENTIST
Editor Constitution: In The Constitution of April 29 there appears a syndicated article by Dr. William Brady, entitled, "Dentists Need To Be Open to Argument."

Having been a subscriber to The Constitution for more than 20 years and being a member of the profession that Dr. Brady has seen fit to malign, I cannot permit this scurrilous piece of literature to go unanswered.

First, I wish to state that I am surprised to learn that the dentist is held in such disdain by his medical conferees. This may or may not be true (and I am inclined to believe the latter) in that section of the country in which this learned doctor resides, but I can assure him that such is not the condition in the south. Nor do I believe that Dr. Brady speaks for or with the consent of the medical profession at large.

It is true that dentistry has been successful in its research to find the specific cause for caries (dental decay). He could have named several other dental disorders of which dental science, as yet, has failed to discover the etiology. But is this any basis for placing the members of an honorable profession in the same mental bracket as a high school sophomore?

In all fairness to the dental profession, Dr. Brady might have drawn a comparable tangent to the medical profession. It is a fact that medical science does not know the cause of diabetes, arthritis, appendicitis, gall stones, or renal calculi, just to mention a few of the many diseases that the physician treats. In fact, about three-fourths of the diseases that they treat are not considered in the field of preventive medicine. Yet, who would be so bold as to speak disparagingly of the physician and his vast storehouse of scientific knowledge? It's too bad we all can't be as learned as Dr. Brady.

Yes, publication of articles in scientific journals is tantamount to submitting the question for open discussion. That is open discussion in scientific journals and not in newspapers. Every ethical practitioner knows this well. Why discuss in lay literature a subject such as "B. Acidophilus," of which the laity knows nothing, unless, of course, one is either seeking publicity or trying to impress the general public with his supercolossal intelligence, or both.

When approached in an ethical, respectful manner, as one professional gentleman to another, Dr. Brady, you will not find dentists either mincing or hypersensitive. I have known quite a few, and while I am necessarily biased, I have found some which are even of senior high school mental capacity. Try associating with a few and perhaps through contact with a great mind like yours, these at least might learn to gracefully wear that professional dignity which you seem to know so much about.

EVANGELISTIC DRIVE AND NEWSPAPER AID
Editor Constitution: As chairman of the committee on publicity for the recent simultaneous city-wide evangelistic meetings, please let me both personally and on behalf of The Christian Council thank you for the exceptionally generous and discerning manner in which The Constitution reported these meetings in your editorial and news columns.

I have received many expressions of appreciation from the public of the attitude of our Atlanta newspapers toward the work of the churches.

Expecting a Baby?

Mother's Friend helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

MOTHER'S FRIEND—An exquisitely prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy. It helps keep the skin soft and pliable... thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin... for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use.

Mother's Friend
Highly praised by users, many doctors and nurses. Just ask any druggist for Mother's Friend—the skin lubricant. Try it tonight.

No Additional Taxes Planned By Treasury

Morgenthau Stands by Estimate of $19,000,000,000 To Spend.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau said today that the Treasury "at the present time" was planning no additional tax requests above the $3,500,000,000 of new taxes recently proposed to congress.

Morgenthau made his comment at a press conference, in reply to questions about whether the tax program would be enlarged if federal expenditures in the next fiscal year substantially exceeded the $19,000,000,000 he forecasts. At the time Morgenthau asked for the $3,500,000,000 new taxes, he said that amount was needed on top of present taxes so that federal revenues would amount to two-thirds of expenditures.

Referring to the fact that other federal officials have estimated next year's expenditures as high as $24,000,000,000, Morgenthau said:

"I hope I am wrong and that we are able to spend much more, but I still stand by my estimate of $19,000,000,000."

He declined to answer a question whether he would retain his two-thirds formula and ask additional taxes if spending does exceed his estimate, however.

Meanwhile, supporting their arguments with samples of their product, representatives of candy manufacturers told congress that candy is a food, important to defense and should not be subjected to a special excise tax such as the Treasury has proposed.

The candy men, representing the National Confectioners' Association, made their protest at House Ways and Means Committee hearings on raising $3,500,000,000 in new revenue. They then passed out candy bars, which the committee members munched.

Atlanta to War on Traffic Violators

Radio and foot patrolmen will become traffic men under a coordinated move to curb speeding and violation of traffic laws as a result of a conference slated for 11 o'clock tomorrow morning between Mayor LeCraw and ranking officers of the police department.

"I shall insist that every member of the department work traffic, no matter what his assignment," LeCraw said. "We must stop accidents, caused for the most part because some drivers disregard the safety of others and themselves."

One of the chief complaints about enforcement is that police assigned to other duties than traffic work have ignored traffic law offenses.

Pegler Given Pulitzer Prize For Reporting

American play performed in New York "which shall represent in marked fashion the educational value and power of the stage, preferably dealing with American life" went to Robert E. Sherwood's "There Shall Be No Night." The New York drama critics' circle gave its award to Lillian Hellman's "Watch on the Rhine."

Other journalism awards went to Reuben Mauray, of the New York Daily News, $500 for distinguished editorial writing, and Jacob Burck, of the Chicago Times, a like amount for distinguished cartooning, specifically for a cartoon entitled "If I Should Die Before I Wake," published June 2, 1940.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch received a $500 gold medal for its "successful campaign against the city's smoke nuisance," which was rated "the most distinguished and meritorious public service rendered by an American newspaper during the year."

A special citation was given the New York Times "for the public educational values of its foreign news reports."

It was decided that the usual $500 award for "distinguished service as foreign or Washington correspondent" would be replaced this year by erection of a bronze plaque listing the names of newspaper, press association and syndicate reporters regularly assigned to the war zone.

In the field of literature $1,000 awards were given to the American biography, "Jonathan Edwards," by Ola Elizabeth Winslow, and to Leonard Bacon's book of verse, "Sunderland Capture."

"The Atlantic Migration," by Marcus Lee Hansen, was given the $1,000 prize for "a distinguished book of the year on the history of the United States."

All Nazi Output Called Beaten By U. S. Steel

Stockholders Hear Report of Production Beyond 'Capacity.'

HOBOKEN, N. J., May 5.—(AP)—"It must be remembered that this apparent prosperity may well prove to be of a flitting character, as... to a large measure it stems from war abroad and from our own intensive and gigantic defense program," Irving S. Olds, chairman, told stockholders of U. S. Steel Corporation at their annual meeting today.

"Past experiences," he continued, "establish the truth of the statement... That periods of war bring only transitory profits and result in long-continued, serious disturbances and enduring increases in costs."

Olds reported that operations of the biggest steel concern in the United States had averaged in the first quarter of this year, 100.9 per cent of what had been regarded previously as "total capacity," and was more than all the mills in Germany could turn out in a similar period by latest figures.

At the same time he presented one of the most graphic pictures ever given to the owners of a major corporation of the change which has occurred in the past decade or so in the distribution of corporate income.

These were some of the points his address brought out.

1. In 1929, income of U. S. Steel from all goods and services was $1,094,000,000; the balance available for dividends, wages and salaries was $618,000,000 or 56.4 per cent of all income; wages and salaries took $420,000,000 or 68 per cent of the balance available for wages and salaries; taxes were about $55,000,000.

2. In 1940, all income was $1,081,000,000; $541,000,000 was available for dividends, salaries and wages; $439,000,000 or 81 per cent of the balance available for these three purposes went to wages and salaries; taxes were about $85,420,000.

Olds said the production rate of the big steel concern now was equal to the combined output of Great Britain, France and Belgium in 1939, the latest figures by which comparisons could be made.

Mother, Child, Maid Overcome By Gas Fumes

Defective Heater Is Blamed; Victims Recovering.

A mother, her child, and a maid were overcome by gas fumes yesterday morning, but their conditions were reported improved last night. The three, Mrs. W. H. Kershaw, of 321 Nolan street, her six-year-old daughter, Joan, and the maid, Parthena Grissom, were overcome when gas fumes from defective heater connections in the kitchen spread rapidly through the dwelling.

The fire department salvage wagon found Grady hospital in the kitchen, treating the victims on beds which had been moved onto the front porch when it arrived.

First to reach the three was Mrs. A. V. Kershaw, mother-in-law of Mrs. W. H. Kershaw, who shut off the heater, raised windows, and helped move the three to open air. Mrs. Kershaw said first indication of trouble was when she heard the Negro maid moaning.

Dorothy Thompson Says: America United To Free Texas

When I was out in Texas recently friends took me to the historic San Jacinto battlefield to see the famous monument memorializing what Texans call "one of the 16 decisive battles of the world."

The monument, a towering needle of stone 570 feet high, and thus, I was informed, the tallest memorial on earth, is also a museum, where in picture, exhibits and maps is recorded the history of the building of an empire—the vast American empire of the Southwest.

From the top of the monument one can look miles and miles away over that fabulous land of cotton, fruit, cattle and oil; toward Houston, whose channel is now one of the two or three busiest in America. There lies a British ship—now here go vast loads of oil and guns to the Allies. And from here have gone also, and to our shame, the sinews of war to help the Japanese to conquer China, to help the Japanese wrest from us our interests in the Pacific.

When high octane gas was embargoed, the octane rating, fixed by the regulation, was merely reduced by one-half of one per cent, and the gasoline kept on going to Japan. Probably it is still going. The men and women who stand with me on the top of the monument do not like this. They are indignant about it.

Texans loathe tyranny. For Texas became, first a republic, and then a member of the United States, as the result of a war on a dictator. The story of that war is graven in stone, on the sides of the great monument. Descending to the earth, we walk around it, reading the towering letters that tell the story of the rise and fall of the mighty Santa Anna, self-styled "Napoleon of the west."

Once Texan colonists were happy and satisfied members of the great state of Mexico, the stone letters tell me. "The early policy of Mexico toward the colonists had been liberal. The relationship between Anglo-Americans and Mexico was cordial. But following a series of revolutions begun in 1829 unscrupulous leaders seized power in Mexico and their unjust and despotic decrees led to the revolution in Texas."

Nothing But Disaster. We move to another facade, eager to read the history of triumph. But the cold stone letters record nothing but failure, nothing but defeat, nothing but death and despair.

The first shot of the revolution of 1835 was fired by Texans... in resisting to a demand of Mexican soldiers for a small cannon held by the colonists... Texas declared her independence.

For nearly two months her armies fought a desperate defeat. "Dr. James Grant's men... killed."

"William Barrett Travis and his men... sacrificed, at the Alamo. "William Ward... defeated at Refugio."

"Raymond D. King's men... executed. "James Walker Fannin Jr. ... put to death near Goliad."

County Group Indorses Plan For Hospitals

Amendment to Be Voted Upon in June Favored by Committee.

AUGUSTA, Ga., May 5.—(AP)—Greater efficiency and economy in county government services may be effected if a constitutional amendment to be voted on in June is adopted, county commissioners will be advised when they meet in annual convention here this week.

The legislative committee of the commissioners' association has given its indorsement to the proposed amendment, which was designed primarily to permit counties and municipalities to co-operate in building and maintaining hospitals.

The amendment is broad enough, however, the committee believes, to permit counties to co-operate in rendering other services. It permits execution of contracts over a period of 30 years between counties or other governmental subdivisions with respect to the "use of existing facilities and rendition of governmental services."

Reports on this and other legislation sponsored by the association will be made at the convention opening here Wednesday.

Scott Candler, chairman of the legislative committee, said the recent legislature approved two measures that were beneficial to the counties. The hospital bill and a measure reducing the contribution required of counties toward administrative cost of the social security acts to 5 per cent were of the most benefit, he said.

The association's legislative program failed of approval in the main, he said, because there was a lack of understanding between commissioners and their representatives and also because the program was not presented early in the legislative session.

Defense, taxation, fire protection and the WPA are among subjects on the convention's program which will continue through Friday.

Senator Richard B. Russell will speak Thursday on "Counties and the Defense Program." James S. Peters, chairman of the state Democratic executive committee, also will speak Thursday on "Taxation."

Milk Mixture For Stomach Ulcers

A recent medical discovery now being used by doctors and hospitals everywhere has proven unusually successful in the treatment of stomach ulcers caused from excess acid. It is a harmless preparation yet so effective that in many cases the pain of stomach ulcers disappear almost immediately after it is used. Also recommended for gas pains, indigestion and heartburn due to hyperacidity. Sufferers may now try this at home by obtaining a bottle of Lurin from their druggist. Lurin contains this new discovery in its purest form. Easy to take. Just mix two teaspoonfuls in half glass of milk. Costs but little and holds under an absolute guarantee that it must satisfy or money refunded. Lurin for sale by Jacobs Drug Stores and drug stores everywhere.—(adv.)

Green Pledges Full AFL Aid In Defense Job

'Fullest Co-operation' Is Offered; Lewis' War Stand Rapped.

By The Associated Press.

President William Green pledged yesterday the fullest co-operation of the American Federation of Labor in the national defense program.

"I say that without reservations of any kind," he declared in an address to the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor at Harrisburg, Pa. Green said he felt "compelled" to make this statement because John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers (CIO) and former president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, had asserted last week that the government should not expect too much co-operation from labor unless it afforded labor a greater voice in its councils.

The AFL president declared, too, that Lewis had spoken of the European conflict as an "unnecessary imperialistic war." Green commented that "it is also the policy of the Communist party to so regard it."

In Washington, meantime, the defense mediation board, seeking to avert a threatened strike, began hearings on a labor dispute at the Minneapolis-Honeywell Company, Minneapolis, which holds $2,000,000 of artillery equipment orders for the Army.

Bus Farley Proceeds.
At the same time, Labor Department conciliators conferred with union and management representatives in an effort to settle the strike of AFL bus drivers, maintenance and terminal employees of the Pennsylvania Greyhound Lines.

Judge Alfred Mack enjoined picketing of the bus terminal at Cincinnati but granted the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees the right to station two "observers" on the property.

Approximately 25 Pennsylvania Greyhound buses were put in garages as the AFL-affiliated drivers joined a general walkout.

The mediation board continued hearings on the contract dispute between the CIO United Automobile Workers and General Motors Corporation. Board sources indicated that conferences might extend several days yet.

During the day, the board received assurances from CIO electrical workers that they would defer, pending board mediation efforts, a threatened strike at the

Frank Scarlett Is Indorsed For U. S. Judge

South Georgia Bar Bodies Favor Brunswick Resident for Barrett Post.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., May 5.—(AP) Bar associations of four counties today adopted resolutions recommending appointment of Frank M. Scarlett, Brunswick attorney, as United States district judge for southern Georgia, succeeding the late Judge William H. Barrett.

The attorneys in Glynn, Camden, Wayne and McIntosh counties forwarded copies of the resolutions to the President, the attorney general and Georgia's two senators.

Friends of Scarlett said they expected he would receive the backing of still other bar associations.

Both Scarlett and A. B. Lovett, Savannah attorney, had been mentioned for the judgeship, with friends here assuming Scarlett had the support of Richard B. Russell, whose campaign he managed when he first ran for the senate.

Scarlett has long been prominent in this section, but the only public job he has held was as solicitor of the city court of Brunswick some years ago.

There are other candidates, too, with Inman Curry, of Augusta; Lovett, and Kottz Bennett, of Waycross, who may be considered for the appointment.

This is the first judgeship vacancy in the southern district in 19 years. Customary procedure is for the President to designate a judge recommended by both senators to the state.

Term It 'War', Not 'Defense', Glancy Urges

Nation Must Wake Up to 'All-Out Effort', He Says.

DETROIT, May 5.—(AP)—Substitution of the word "war" for "defense" in describing the nation's armament production was suggested here today by A. R. Glancy, chief of the ordnance section, procurement division, of the Office of Production Management.

Speaking before the Economic Club of Detroit, Glancy asserted that most people do not understand the magnitude of the country's defense effort and added:

"There will be no 'all-out effort' in the production of armament until the people are acutely conscious of the fact that we are preparing not for defense, but to go to war, if necessary, with every atom of our strength."

Glancy, former president of the Oakland Motorcar Company, is guiding a group of British and American arms procurement officials on a tour of automobile manufacturing plants here.

The United States, he said, is procuring "critical and essential items" for a balanced force of 2,000,000 men; critical items for another 800,000, and facilities for being set up to provide production rates sufficient to equip and maintain an army of 4,000,000.

Advocating the conveying of war materials to Great Britain, Glancy said:

"Why put forth all this effort to produce this equipment only to have it sunk in the Atlantic ocean?"

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help people pass about 1 pint a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 million of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

During the day, the board received assurances from CIO electrical workers that they would defer, pending board mediation efforts, a threatened strike at the Pittsburgh plant of Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company, employing 1,200. The dispute involves wage and contract renewal demands.

General Motors reopened its strike-bound Packard electric drive at Warren, Ohio, but observers saw no workers go through picket lines of the CIO United Electric, Radio and Machine Workers.

Miners Negotiating.
A usually reliable source said at Birmingham, Ala., "great progress" has been made in negotiating for a new work contract for the 21,000 idle Alabama coal miners in this district.

Negotiations between the United Mine Workers of America (CIO) and the operators have been stalled over the union's demand for a wage increase of $1 per day.

Neither union spokesmen nor the operators would comment on developments.

Elsewhere:
Lorain, Ohio—The CIO Steel Workers' Organizing Committee called a strike at the American Stove Company, employing 450. The union asked 10 cents an hour increase to make the rate 72 1/2 cents.

San Diego, Cal.—AFL building trades officials said the government had agreed to make a recent 10 per cent raise retroactive to March 17 for work on the $9,000,000 Kearney Mesa defense housing project. As a result, they said, a threatened strike would be called off.

Flagstaff, Ariz.—Six hundred carpenters and joiners struck at the Saginaw & Manitowish Lumber Company, asking an increase from 36 to 50 cents an hour.

CIO coal miners of Arkansas and Oklahoma formally presented to the Arkansas-Oklahoma Coal Operators' Association a demand for a $1 a day wage increase in the basic scale with greater increases for higher brackets.

R. A. Young, Fort Smith (Ark.) coal operator, said a conference of operators of the two states probably would be held here Wednesday.

Evening School Here Rewards Honor Students

Jack Adams, Mrs. Jackson, Seniors, With Highest Averages.

At the annual Honor Night exercises of the Georgia Evening College, held at the Baptist tabernacle last night, eleven keys, five cups and other special honors were announced by Dr. George M. Sparks, director of the college.

Mrs. Willathes Jackson, the woman senior with the highest scholastic average, received the W. S. Kell award and Jack Adams, the senior man with the highest average, was awarded the Delta Sigma Pi scholarship key. Fideles Kloeckler, Harvey Livingston and Jack Adams, all seniors, were given the faculty award as the most co-operative students. Miss Kloeckler also received the Crimison Cup key for outstanding accomplishments for the Evening College.

Elected from the senior class to membership in Delta Mu Delta, national honorary scholastic fraternity, were James T. Wiley Jr., Sara Ramsey, Miriam Clarke, Hans Butzon, Fideles Kloeckler, Homer T. Gibby, E. E. Wright, Kathryn Tabor and Mrs. Kate Taylor.

Junior class awards were received by Emily Roberts, the Robert R. Johnson key, for the highest scholastic average in liberal arts; William Bromberg, the Alpha Kappa Psi medalion for the highest scholastic average in commerce; Vera Murray, the Intra Mural key award, for superior scholarship, and Karl Gemes the Delta Mu Delta key for superior scholarship in the prejunior classes.

Miss Emily Roberts and Edwin Clark were the juniors elected to Delta Mu Delta. Miss Louise Marchman won both the Phi Chi Theta national award and the Kappa Theta cup for leadership and scholarship. The Delta Lambda Sigma award, given to the ideal

MAY 1, THEIR BIG DAY—Many of us red-letter certain days, but it'd take a box of pencils to mark up May 1 prominently enough for the Marstons. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Marston, pictured above, were married on his 20th birthday, which was 57 years ago May 1. Then their first child was born three years later on May 1. So last week there came a big day in their lives—a wedding anniversary and two birthdays. They live at 348 Richardson street, S. W. Their daughter is Mrs. Mary Anderson.

Sam McConnell Wins Honors At Horse Show Held in Macon

By SALLY FORTH.

• • • JOCKEY EDDIE ARCARO couldn't possibly have been more proud or thrilled when the giant horseshoe of red roses was placed on Whirlaway, winner of the Kentucky Derby, than was Sam McConnell when a replica of the decoration was placed on his own mount, Darktown Strutter, as winner of the grand championship on Derby day at the spectacular horse show held in Macon Saturday.

The award of the five-gaited championship stake, which designated Darktown Strutter as the best horse in the show, was not Sam's only thrill of the day, however. The youthful Atlantan was winner of several ribbons in the various classes in which he exhibited another mount, Black Venus. These included, among others, second place in the three-gaited amateur class, and third place in the three-gaited stake.

Horse show devotees are well aware of Sam's triumphs in the ring, for he never fails to "bring home the bacon." Exhibitors in the forthcoming Atlanta Horse Show, scheduled for May 9-11, should sit up and take notice, for Sam plans to show Darktown Strutter here, providing keen competition for owners of five-gaited mounts. Sam, incidentally, was accompanied to Macon by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Evan McConnell, and Mr. and Mrs. Goodloe Yancey, all of whom were the guests of E. G. Jeffreys, president of the Macon Horse Show Association.

• • • DOT HARRIS and Hilton Wall will remember May 4 not only because it was the date of their formal betrothal announcement, but because they received as their first wedding present a brand-new green automobile, complete with white sidewall tires and a radio!

The car was the gift of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Harris, and it boasts of all the new features, including "fluid drive," which means that it changes gears automatically in accordance with the driver's wish!

Dot and "Hickey," as the groom-elect is known to his intimates, will be married on June 12 at St. Philip's cathedral, their wedding to be preceded by a series of informal social affairs.

• • • THE SENIOR CLASS and Dramatic Club of Washington Seminary departed from their usual type of dramatic production when they chose for their play this year Paul Loomis' hilarious melodrama, "Pure as the Driven Snow," or "A Working Girl's Secret," to be presented on May 15 at 8:15 o'clock in the Seminary auditorium.

Raiford Ragsdale as Purity Dean, the heroine, is relentlessly pursued through three acts by the deep-dyed villain, Mortimer Frothingham, to be played by Paul Cox, of Boys' High, but she is always rescued by the courageous hero, Leander Longfellow, portrayed by Thad Horton, of Emory.

One of the star performers of the play is Paul Stoney, of Emory, who plays Jonathan Logan, the inn keeper. His wife, Zamah (Betty Rubie), henpecks him in approved manner. Lalla Nimmons as Mrs. Ethelinda Hewlitt, and her daughter, Allison (Carolyn Howell, president of the class and "Spirit" of the Seminary), manage to complicate matters beautifully, while Dee Speed as Imogene Pickins stoops low in an effort to conquer the affections of the noble Leander. Her brother, E. Z. (Weyman Gibson, of Boys' High), refuses to take any part in her scheme.

Other members of the cast are Bobby Young as the convict, Jed Lunn; Betty Howell as Mrs. Faith Hogue; Betty Garges as Letty Barber, and Dottie Groome as Nellie, the beautiful cloak model.

Coincidence seems to have been working overtime so far as this production is concerned. Out of thousands of plays and hundreds of dates, the Seminary group and the Emory players chose the same play at the same time, and to further complicate matters, chose the same date for the performance. Fortunately, the Emory players are giving a second performance on Friday evening, May 16.

The Seminary production is under the direction of Ruth Draper, assisted by Jean Hampton, a new Seminary faculty member who is herself a graduate of Emory.

Cleaning Agents' Safety Discussed

By Dr. William Brady.

Please advise whether carbon tetrachloride used as a cleaning agent in a machine shop would cause the constant user any ill effect (asks C. B. D.). I have suffered dizzy spells and pain in arms and legs and would like to learn whether this may be the cause.

The correspondent gave no further details, either because he feared he might lose his job or else he assumed, as most readers do when making queries, that the simple question gave all the information necessary for a categorical answer.

Is the work of C. B. D. the job of cleaning metal surfaces with carbon tetrachloride, so that exposure is constant throughout the working day? Or is the exposure to the vapor only a matter of a few moments now and then? Does C. B. D. dabble in his own machine shop or is he employed in a large machine shop with many other workers? Is his exposure to carbon tetrachloride only a recent experience or has it been so for months or years?

Carbon tetrachloride is commonly used as a dry cleaning agent in place of gasoline or benzene. It is very heavy, an excellent solvent for gums, resins and oils or fats. It is noninflammable, and indeed is the fluid used in some fire extinguishers.

That carbon tetrachloride is not absolutely poisonous is indicated by the fact that 10 drops of it, with or without seven drops of oil of chenopodium (ascariol), given in capsules at 7 and 8 a. m., followed by a tablespoonful of Epsom salts at 9 a. m., has been found an excellent treatment to eradicate hookworms as well as ordinary round worms in children five to 10 years old. The child taking the treatment should have a purgative the preceding afternoon, a light supper and no food next morning until after 10 o'clock. Should the single dose of Epsom salts (never castor oil) fail to act thoroughly within an hour, a second dose should be given.

Dry cleaners and machine shop workers using carbon tetrachloride frequently or constantly may suffer from mental dullness and confusion and numbness, headache, even irrational behavior, drowsiness, irritation and itching of eyelids, sneezing, irritation of nose and throat, severe dermatitis and cracking and soreness of skin of hands and arms from removal of natural skin oil (sebum) and failure to apply a suitable skin oil regularly to replace it.

The beautiful fishing lass in the picture is Miss Loraine Gettman, who illustrates how charming the "Z" girl proportions are when fulfilled.

Average "Z" girl measurements are:

Height: 5 feet 6 in.
Weight: 120 pounds
Neck: 12 1/2 inches
Bust: 35 inches
Hips: 36 1/2 inches
Thigh: 19 1/2 inches
Calf: 12 1/2 inches
Ankle: 8 1/2 inches
Are you a "Z" girl?

ARE YOU A "Z" GIRL?

It's easy to find out if you are, but hard to fill the rigid specifications.

The "Z" in "Z" girl might mean zest, or zombie, but actually stands for "Ziegfeld Girl." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer searched the country for beauties to play the front-line chorines in the film of the same name starring James Stewart, Judy Garland, Hedy Lamarr and Lana Turner. Around the set, to simplify matters, people began to call them "Z" girls.

All had one thing in common, beauty of face and figure, and someone thought it would be fun to average their measurements together. The results are shown in the table above, from which you can check how near you come to their specifications.

Temperamental Suitor Puzzles "Lonely Girl"

By Dixie George.

Dear Dixie:

This boy I go with is very popular with other girls. He is from a well-to-do family and very nice. He pretends to me that he does not go with other girls, and when I see him with them, he tells me I am jealous. He seems to be in love with me, and I love him.

Right now he seems to be mad with me, and sometimes he will not even speak to me when we pass. He is going to camp in a short while, and now he has asked me to marry him. What would you do about marrying him?

Just a Lonely Girl.

Your young man certainly seems temperamental, and I would say off-hand that he would make a very unreliable husband. He must love you some if he has asked you to marry him, but I do not believe I would be too hasty about accepting him. You have seen how he acts, and know that he has been unfair to you by denying that he goes with other girls. If you think you love him enough to overlook these little things, by all means marry him. Look at the situation from a very sensible standpoint, and don't think that you can make him change after the marriage.

Why don't you tell him that you can't trust him, and that you would like to put him on probation for a certain time? If he declares his everlasting love for you, and then, on probation, slips back into his old habits, he is showing his true colors and I would forget him.

Woman's Quiz

Q. Please tell me how to remove the tarnish from silver.

A. One of the best ways is by electrolysis. Fill an enameled or agate kettle partly full of water in which one teaspoon of either washing or baking soda and one teaspoon of salt to each quart of water have been dissolved. Heat this solution to the boiling point. Put in strips of aluminum or bright zinc, add the tarnished silver and boil it. The silver must be completely covered with the solution and each piece must be in contact with the aluminum or zinc, either directly or through other silver. When the tarnish has disappeared, the silver should be removed from the kettle, washed and dried with a clean, soft cloth.

Waists Look Slim With Set-in Girdle

By Lillian Mae.

Here it is—that city-or-country casual so indispensable for summer. Pattern 4710 is young, clean-cut and—best of all—a Lillian Mae creation, which means the simplest of cutting, stitching and finishing. The easy-going, bloused top is gathered below the yokes that keep your shoulder-lines trim and neat. The classic shirtwaist style of the notched collar and the bodice buttoning may be softened by gay flowered or novelty buttons. One of the nicest features is that inset girdle that makes you look lithe and small-waisted. Gentle fullness is given the skirt by a smart front panel which emphasizes its slim lines. Though just short sleeves are shown, long and three-quarter versions are included in this useful pattern.

Pattern 4710 is available in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 3 1/4 yards 35-inch fabric.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins for this Lillian Mae pattern. Do not send stamps. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

You'll need plenty of wardrobe variety for warm days to come, so order the Lillian Mae Pattern Book today! Its colorful pages show smart, individual styles for everyone—each quickly available in a simple-to-use pattern. Cracker Meat Pie Is Easy to Make

By Sally Saver.

Almost every homemaker keeps a file of recipes which she adds to constantly. New ideas of preparing foods pep up the daily menus. With the best ingredients, a flair for different combinations, even the old reliables become new favorites.

Just such a dish is this meat pie made with soda crackers. A whole meal can quickly be built around it, with a fresh tossed green salad, hot muffins, and coffee or milk.

Meat Pie.
1-2 cup minced onion
1 cup diced celery
1 pound ground round steak
2 teaspoons Worcestershire
Dash of Tabasco
Salt and pepper
2 cups grated cheese
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
12 salted crackers

Cook diced celery and minced onion in a very small amount of water, not more than 1-4 cup, until tender. Fry ground round steak in hot fat just long enough to turn it gray in color. Add cooked celery and onions, seasonings, 1 cup of the grated cheese, tomatoes and mix well. Place 1-2 the meat mixture in the bottom of the greased casserole, cover with a layer of crackers, whole or crumbled, and put remaining meat mixture on top. Garnish top with whole crackers and remaining grated cheese. Bake in 350-degree oven for 30 minutes.

Questions about recipes, food and service will be answered by Sally Saver. Call Walnut 6565 or write in care of The Constitution.

Today's Charm Tip.

For Wives: One's reaction always to the wife who isn't afraid to proclaim her possession of the best man on earth is that she must be a charming dear to merit such success.

An easy meat pie is this one made with crackers.

MY DAY: Misprint Embarrasses Theodore Dreiser

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sunday.—I have a letter from Mr. Theodore Dreiser in Hollywood, Cal., telling me that he has been sent some copies of my column which appeared on April 10. In it he says that I stated: "After dinner Mr. Theodore Dreiser showed us some slides of Black Mountain College near Asheville, N. C."

I can only infer that this error was made in a few papers. I know it was not made in my own copy, for I have that in my files. The name, of course, was Mr. Theodore Dreiser, who teaches at Black Mountain College and is a nephew of a very old friend, Miss Mary Dreiser. Mr. Dreiser is troubled because he feels that his following in the country will believe that he is friendly enough to the President or his foreign policy to come to the White House for any reason whatsoever.

I am sorry, of course, that a typographical error of this kind, even though I am not responsible for it, should have caused Mr. Dreiser such embarrassment. I am taking this opportunity to state very clearly that Mr. Dreiser did not come to the White House and is still opposed to the President and his foreign policy.

Yesterday was my daughter's birthday and we celebrated by having a completely family day. At breakfast she was given a few presents and then her two eldest children presented her with the nicest possible gift. With the aid of their music teacher, they had each made recordings wishing her a happy birthday and playing two complete pieces on the piano for her.

At noon, to everybody's joy, we went off on the boat for a picnic lunch. I was told with great enthusiasm that the cooking would be done by the gentlemen of the family, who would give us fried egg sandwiches. They proved excellent and the sun shone and we had a marvelous time. We returned early enough to play a while with Johnny, so he would not be disappointed. Then we had a birthday dinner with the necessary cake and candles. Thus ended a happy day.

Friday evening my son-in-law showed Miss Thompson and me some of the movies taken of the inauguration in January and at various times when we have been out here. They will be a wonderful record for the children when they are grown.

Today Anna has gathered together for me a number of people from the faculties and student bodies of various colleges. They will lunch here and we shall have an opportunity to talk over some of the work of the International Student Service. I have just joined the executive committee of this organization and am very anxious to see the work grow on the campuses in different parts of the country.

Mary Martin Plans New Life After Baby's Birth

By Sheila Graham.

HOLLYWOOD, May 4.—"I regard the matter as practically settled," Mary Martin tells me at Paramount, "it's going to be a girl. I refuse to contemplate anything else. On Monday, Miss Martin celebrates her marriage to Richard Halliday. In November the couple expect to become the parents of a girl.

"But what if it's a boy?" I persist.

"Oh, no," says Mary calmly, "she will be a girl." To settle the matter finally, her parents have already given her the name Mary H. Halliday. "The 'H' is for Heller," she's going to be a hellion," says Mary happily. "Dick and I will call her Heller, but if at any time she decides against it she can change the 'H' to Hope, which is one of Dick's family names."

In all the three years that Mary has been picture-making in Hollywood, I've never seen her so happy or so good-looking. "That's what Dick says; he keeps telling me I'm beautiful," declares his wife. "And when I say why didn't you tell me that before, he says it's because I wasn't beautiful before."

"You know something?" Mary continues. "I regard the baby as a real 'act of God.' I was getting a little bit stale with so many pictures. I like to change. When I was doing night clubs, I longed to work on the stage. And after being on the stage for a certain period, I longed to make films. Now I've come to a point where I yearn for a concert career."

"Does this mean that after the baby comes and after that one film, you are giving up movies?" I ask.

"Oh, no," she replies. "But I will then take advantage of the time in my contract which gives me six months each year away from Hollywood. So far, I haven't done anything about it. I was only supposed to do two films a year; I did five. But after the baby comes, I shall do only two, and the rest of the time tour this country and South America giving concerts (in the manner of Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy). Dick will come along, of course."

Mary already has a son by her first marriage (which is one of the reasons she wants a girl this time). He is nine years old and lives with his grandmother.

Fortunately for Miss Martin's desire to be remembered during her year away from the camera, there are three unreleased pictures that will keep her face before the fans during her motherhood vacation.

Islands Float.

Islands that float away have been seen in Kennmare Bay, on the shore of Kenmare Bay, in County Kerry, Eire, and they have been restless lately. They move, as if by magic, in a circle round the lake until they arrive back at the spot where they were originally situated. Nothing has yet been found to explain this phenomenon, it is stated in Dublin. The lake is too far inland and too remote from the sea to be affected by the tide, and so legend has it that the islands, called "tussocks" by the Kerry folk, are "moved by the hand of God."

Conference Teas Planned By Tallulah Committees

Two conference teas planned for this week by members of the Young Matrons' Circle for Tallulah Falls include that at which Mrs. Wiley Ballard, chairman, and Mrs. W. L. ## Miss Bone, Mr. Gower Plan Their Marriage for June 4

Miss Frances Bone and her fiancé, Vernon Gower, have chosen Wednesday, June 4, as the date for their marriage, the ceremony to take place at 6 o'clock in the evening at the Druid Hills Baptist church. A large and fashionable gathering will assemble to witness the marriage service read by Dr. Louis D. Newton, pastor of the church.

Mrs. John Felder, organist, and Edwin Merry, of Rome, as soloist, will present a musical program during the assembling of the wedding guests.

Miss Bone will be given in marriage by her father, R. Cary Bone, and she has chosen Mrs. H. C. Bagley as her matron of honor. The trio of bridesmaids includes Miss India Upchurch, Miss Mildred McKay and Mrs. Stiles Kellett. The bride-elect's cousin, Miss Dorothy Ann Henry, will be the junior bridesmaid, and little Miss Barbara Green will serve as flower girl.

Richard Gower, brother of the groom-elect; S. C. Henry, the future bride's uncle; Robert Horton and Russell Beilfield, of Grand Rapids, Mich., will be the ushers, and Dr. T. V. Connor, of Dallas, Texas, will be Mr. Gower's best man.

Following the church ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. R. Cary Bone will entertain at a small reception at their home on Ponce de Leon avenue, the guests to be limited to the wedding persons, relatives and out-of-town visitors.

Mr. Gower and his bride will honeymoon in Miami, Fla., and upon their return will take possession of their new home on Lakeshore drive.

Numerous prenuptial parties are being planned for Miss Bone, the series to be initiated by Mrs. H. C. Bagley's bridge luncheon at the East Lake Country Club on May 10. On May 12 Miss India Upchurch will be hostess at a luncheon, and on May 13 Mrs. Irving Ragsdale gives a tea at her home on Peachtree road. Mrs. Leslie Stevens will give a party on May 17.

Miss Bone will be complimented on May 20 at a tea given by Mrs. R. E. House and Mrs. Tom Branch at the latter's home on Peachtree Battle avenue. On May 23 Mrs. Ed Green will give a party at her home on Conway road, and Miss Charlotte Granberry will give a luncheon on May 24. That same evening, May 24, Miss Mildred McKay will give a lingerie shower at her home on Ferguson street.

Mrs. George Bland will give a bridge-tee on May 28 for the future bride at her home on Putnam drive, and on May 30 Mrs. Raymond Nelson will be hostess at a luncheon, May 31 is the date for Mrs. Stiles Kellett's kitchen shower, which she will have at the home of her mother, Mrs. Sam Beam, on Oxford road.

Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Drennon will honor Miss Bone and Mr. Gower on June 1 at a buffet supper at their home on Moreland avenue. On June 3 Miss Miriam Rudel will entertain the bride-elect at a bridge-tee at her home on North Decatur road. That evening, after the wedding rehearsal, Mrs. S. C. Henry, aunt of the bride-to-be, will entertain at a party at her home on Fairview road.

Atlanta Woman's Club Plans To Present Ballet on Friday

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. J. O. Wilson, chairman of the welfare division, the Atlanta Woman's Club will present in its auditorium at 3:30 and 8:30 o'clock on Friday, "The Little Fairy Who Couldn't Dance."

This delightful little ballet was written by Elizabeth Downing Barnitz, author of "Bibby," who writes most entertainingly for children. Michael Erhardt, a teacher at Bass Junior High and Spring street schools, has written the music for the ballet, and Mrs. Robert B. Church Jr., well-known commentator and reviewer of books, will read a synopsis of the ballet. Miss Nancy Downing, an interior decorator and sister of the author, designed and executed the scenery. Miss Lottie Hentschel directs the ballet.

Tickets for this performance are on sale at the Atlanta Woman's Club for both afternoon and evening performances. "The Little Fairy Who Couldn't Dance" will be presented in two acts, first showing her living in a lovely palace of the moon, with stars, clouds, moonbeams, and the lady in the moon. They bring to this unfortunate little fairy a funny little doctor who diagnoses the case. In the second act, she is carried into an enchanted forest, where there are birds and rabbits who dance with nature for the pure joy of living.

Bulldogs Lick Petrels 11-4; Moore Shines

Oglethorpe Nine Crushed in Third Game of Series.

ATHENS, Ga., May 5.—Georgia pounded out 13 hits, including three triples by Third Baseman Bobby Moore, to whip Oglethorpe here this afternoon, 11 to 4.

It was the third time the two teams have played this season and put Georgia one-up in the series. They meet again Wednesday.

Georgia goes to Elberton tomorrow night for a game with Clemson College.

Bob Smith, veteran Bulldog right-hander, hurled steady ball to whip the Petrels this afternoon, despite the erratic play aided by his mates, who committed six miscues.

Oglethorpe went the Georgians two better in the error department, having eight chalked up against them.

After Melton's double and Dodd's single had produced one run in the first inning and gave Oglethorpe a temporary lead, they were never in the ball game.

Chatham and Anderson singled to open Georgia's half of the first, Chatham scoring when Monsour let Andy's grounder bounce through his legs.

Moore slammed out a triple to left center, scoring Anderson, and Van Davis singled to send Bobby home.

Oglethorpe got one run off Smith in the second when Monsour singled, stole second, went to third and scored on two infield outs.

They tallied two more in the seventh when Gasaway's single to left got away from Kirkland and went for three bases. Monsour singled and went all the way around the bases on an infield out, an outfield fly and an error by Bobby Moore.

Smith gave the Petrels only eight hits and had things pretty much his own way from start to finish.

Moore's second triple, which bounded off the shoulder of Second Baseman Brackett and went into right field, plus a base on balls and Nub Welch's double, brought in two more runs in the third. Three errors, a fielder's choice and two singles netted four more in the fourth and Moore's triple plus a wild pitch gave Georgia another run in the sixth.

The Bulldogs got their final tally in the seventh on two singles, by Welch and Smith, and an outfield fly.

Small World ON THE SQUARE, WAXAHACHIE, Texas, May 5.—Well, it's a small world. I saw a Kentucky Derby Saturday at Louisville, a Cracker double-header triumph Sunday at Little Rock, Ark., and today have traversed the rolling acres of the Richards rancho here in Waxahachie, which is Indian for Cow creek.

I had no idea of visiting the home town of the Cracker skipper on this trip or even this season, but it was a question of spending an off day in Little Rock or accepting Richards' invitation, and it hardly took the flip of a coin to decide.

So we hopped aboard an all-night rattler and will be back in ample time for tomorrow night's third game of the Pebble series.

If I were being led around the square blind-folded I'd swear I wasn't in Texas, but on Peachtree street, Atlanta. Paul Richards has the wholehearted support of his home town in the Southern League race.

Everybody seems to know not only how well the Crackers have fared up to now, but in a manner of speaking, they know also the names and numbers of the Atlanta players.

A typical Waxahachie greeting to Richards goes something like this:

"Hi Rich, you all sure are getting off to a bum start. What's the matter, can't you win any games? Only 22 out of 25, nice going, boy; hope you win them all."

I am writing this piece for the paper in the famed Waxahachie Daily Light of which Skipper Richards is a stockholder, member of the board and a sports columnist in the off season.

One native sort of got Richards as we trudged along the square.

"What's the matter, boy; too wet to plow today?" he inquired.

Yes, indeed. All in all, this has been a most enlightening trip. Floyd Casebolt, who is manager of the editorial department of the Daily Light, said Richards recently made a great discovery.

"This farming is highly specialized," Paul confided. On the Richards rancho, just a short piece out from town, the livestock includes Black Angus cattle, Poland China hogs and a couple of fine horses.

There's a peach and pecan grove, fields of oats and alfalfa, corn and cotton in season.

Richards has folks looking out for his place in the spring and summer season, and today's trip was his first here in the spring since 1926.

When his baseball days are over Richards is going to retire to a happy, pleasant life as a gentleman farmer. Few baseball players have such keen perception and foresight. It helps to explain why he is so successful as a baseball manager.

"First Monday" is an old Waxahachie tradition that continues to be preserved. On the first Monday of every month farmers come to town with their livestock and do a lot of selling and trading.

It was with a great effort that Richards restrained himself from bargaining for a couple of calves.

Little Left There is very little left for this correspondent to see. I've now viewed a record-smashing horse race, a new Southern League record for early winning—and Waxahachie, Texas, and all this, mind you, in the space of three days. It's almost too much.

I find Richards is a prophet who's not without honor in his home country and that as an old horse trader who can travel in top company. He can ride the range on the back of a cow pony, too.

Primarily, this was to have been a scouting trip. A couple of excellent youngsters have been tabbed for future Cracker jobs, but an unusual period of rain has interfered with baseball, and today's game was called off.

The Old Hokum Since the Crackers have got out so far in front in the Southern race, the old plaint about the club's heavy financial backing is being heard again.

There never has been any truth to the belief that the Crackers spend so much money for talent. For instance, the outlay of cash on the current sensation amounts to $800. That is what Allyn Stout cost them. The rest of the boys were owned or came in trades.

Knoxville spent a lot more money in assembling a team. In fact, Bob Allen announced he had spent $25,000 for players. That is a bit higher than the Crackers' $800.

Money didn't obtain player help in other years either. Stars like Mailho were obtained on option. The secret of the Crackers' success is not cash—but hustle and dash, plus Paul Richards and President Earl Mann.

Always a Target The rest of the league looks to Atlanta to draw enough money to carry the non-paying clubs, and yet every team shoots to beat the Crackers.

Every club is jealous of the Crackers. Here's an idea. Bert Niehoff might have beaten Chattanooga last Saturday, but he didn't want to waste his star pitchers like Prendergast. He saved Prendergast and Mustakis for the Atlanta double-header.

So he lost two games and was out of pitchers. It really doesn't matter in the standings whom a club beats just so it wins, but it is an honor to beat Atlanta. With this sort of a situation prevailing, the current record of the team is nothing less than amazing.

Atlanta carries the league, but to beat Atlanta is the fond ambition of the seven clubs. Somehow, it doesn't make sense.

Qualifying Ends At Marietta Club MARIETTA COUNTRY CLUB, MARIETTA, Ga., May 5.—The final day of qualifying for the first annual invitation golf tournament is scheduled tomorrow. Match play will be held Wednesday and Thursday.

More than 80 golfers already have entered the tourney. Tommy Barnes, of Atlanta, is leading for medal honors with a 1-under-par 69.

Metropolitan Women Play Golf Wednesday With a membership nearing the 100 mark, the Metropolitan Women Golfers will move over to the 18-hole courses for the month of May. The schedule:

May 7, Bobby Jones; May 14, Adams park; May 21, North Fulton; May 28, Black Rock.

Wednesday prizes will be given for the best nine holes and for the best putter in divisions. There will be a nine-hole competition for beginners. Play starts at 9 o'clock. Mrs. Max Mentzer will be in charge.

Dempsey and Luttrell Will Meet Here Again

Jack To Referee Match Wednesday Involving Wrestler He Kayoed Last Summer.

Things were entirely too quiet around these parts with the pennant-mad Crackers away on a road trip, so something was bound to happen.

Jack Dempsey and Cowboy Luttrell are going to climb into the same ring again—in Atlanta.

The reunion of the old Manassa Mauler and the burly wrestler who he battered into a bleeding, helpless hulk at the ball park last July will take place at the City Auditorium tomorrow night.

It is last-minute billing. Promoter Abe Simon signed Dempsey to referee a team match involving Dorv Roche and Ralph Garibaldi against Herbie Freeman and Ray Eckert.

Simon, who stays awake nights thinking up ideas which might lure customers through the gates, suddenly hit upon the plan of bringing the Cowboy to town. A wire was sent to Luttrell and right away the expected answer came—

"Sure, I'll be there. Dempsey hit me a lucky punch last summer. I've been aching to get into the ring with him again."

The only true word in the Cowboy's statement is "aching." He broke a lot of that after Dempsey broke his nose, cracked his jaw and closed one eye. He doesn't really relish the idea of mixing it up with Dempsey again, but he must eat. The match here will draw money. And the Cowboy will risk his neck for the greenbacks involved.

Luttrell will team with his old partner in crime, Herbie Freeman, and the two of them should be able to plot enough villainy to keep Dempsey well occupied. Fans will want to see what happens when the Mauler and the Cowboy cross paths again. Their battle with the gloves drew 8,000 people here last summer and attracted national attention.

Louis Thesz, whom most observers rate as the top wrestler in the game today, meets Jack Kennedy in a special attraction. There will be a good opening event between Jack Hader and Lee Wycoff.

Simon announces there will be no advance in regular low summer prices.

Today's Pitchers NEW YORK, May 5.—(AP)—Probable pitchers in the major leagues tomorrow (won-lost records in parentheses):

AMERICAN LEAGUE. New York at Detroit—Bonham (3-0) vs. Gornicki (1-1).

Philadelphia at Chicago—Knott (0-3) vs. Rigney (0-0).

Boston at St. Louis—Johnson (2-0) vs. Allen (0-0).

Washington at Cleveland—Leonard (1-3) vs. Bagby (0-1).

NATIONAL LEAGUE. St. Louis at Boston—Grodzicki (2-0) vs. Harbin and Harris; Jordan, Wilson and Clark.

Pittsburgh at Brooklyn—Klinger (0-1) vs. Casey (4-0).

Chicago at New York—Olson (0-1) vs. Schumacher (2-1).

Cincinnati at Philadelphia—Vander Meer (2-2) vs. Pearson (0-3).

Interlachen Gets '42 Open Meet NEW YORK, May 5.—(AP)—The United States Golf Association today announced the 1942 open championship will be held at the Interlachen Country Club, Minneapolis, around the middle of June.

Two other national title events have been played over the Interlachen course—the open in 1930 when Bobby Jones won the third of the four titles he captured that year and the women's national in 1935 when Mrs. Edwin H. Vare defeated Patty Berg for her sixth championship.

B-1 Peps Up Card Rookies, Sickness Pilot

Southworth Has 5 Ace Hurlers; Must Cut Roster May 15.

BOSTON, May 5.—(AP)—Five freshmen Cardinal pitchers have pulled a fast one on Manager Billy Southworth to become the sensation of the young baseball season.

Billy, who is piloting the Red Birds into the National League lead has the baseball world second guessing about St. Louis' pennant chances, tried to put the youngsters on the spot. He wound up behind the eight-ball himself.

His problem is similar to the old woman who lived in the shoe. Remember? She had so many children she didn't know what to do. Well, within 10 days, Southworth must ship two of his 27-man squad to the minors to get within the limit—but he has so many winning pitchers he doesn't know what to do.

In hopes of paring the pitching staff, he started early flinging his rookies down the big league batting gauntlet.

First up, John Grodzicki, who had a so-so 1940 record at Rochester, was credited with two victories in relief roles against Pittsburgh and New York.

Next, Sam Nahem replied with two triumphs—over the Pirates and the Giants. The bespectacled New York attorney, booty in the deal that sent Joe Medwick to Brooklyn last year, set the Pirates down with three hits in his first starting assignment. Since then, St. Louis has referred to Nahem as "Larry MacPhail's folly."

Grodzicki's and Nahem's performances met with some eye-brow tilting, but they were expected to be the best of the recruits. The other three—Howard Krist, Henry Gornicki and Ernie White—were question marks. Midway through the eastern junket, Southworth decided to find out which—maybe all three—needed more seasoning in the minors.

Presto, Krist, a 22-game winner at Houston last season, set Philadelphia down with five hits last Friday in his debut as a starter. The Cards triumphed, 4-2.

But Gornicki next day outshone the best of the quartet. He beat the Phillies, 6 to 0, allowing but a single safety.

The right-hander, who pitched 19 victories for Rochester in 1940, had proved himself a starting hurler and further perplexed Southworth.

Then, today, another rookie, Southpaw Ernie White, held the Braves to five hits to win his major league debut, 5-1.

Blame it on to vitamin B-1 if you will, but pass the aspirin to Manager Billy. He still has to cut the roster.

Chapman's Wife Granted Divorce MIAMI, Fla., May 5.—(AP)—Richard D. Chapman, United States amateur golf champion, was divorced today on the grounds of desertion.

Circuit Judge Ross Williams signed the decree granting the divorce to Mrs. Marjorie Logan Chapman, after reviewing a report by Special Master Harry Neham. Mrs. Chapman charged that the golfer packed up and left her in October, 1939.

She said they were married by a justice of the peace in Mount Kisco, N. Y., May 3, 1937, shortly before Chapman left for an European golf trip. After he returned, she declared, a church ceremony was performed in Greenwich, Conn. Pointing out that there were no children, she asked no alimony.

Buford, Marietta To Clash Tonight BUFORD, Ga., May 5.—Buford's Shoemakers and the Marietta City team will meet for an European golf trip. After he returned, she declared, a church ceremony was performed in Greenwich, Conn. Pointing out that there were no children, she asked no alimony.

Tom Lanning or Larry Bridges will do the hurling for the Buford nine.

hurler and further perplexed Southworth.

Then, today, another rookie, Southpaw Ernie White, held the Braves to five hits to win his major league debut, 5-1.

Blame it on to vitamin B-1 if you will, but pass the aspirin to Manager Billy. He still has to cut the roster.

Sharp Shootin' by AL SHARP

AUGUSTA NATIONAL MAY TAKE PREP MEET.
When Clarence Avery, prominent Chattanooga sportsman, took the idea of Professor Jim Pennington, of Baylor School, and made it into the Southern Prep and High School tournament, he had two ideas about the tourney.

One of those was to have Bob Jones speak at the banquet for the boys. The other was to celebrate the tournament's tenth anniversary by moving it to the Augusta National Golf Club for that year.

During the sixth annual tourney, held last week, Bob Jones did speak to the boys. And Avery mentioned the facts to him. Bob made no promises, but he nodded agreement that it would be a fine idea if the meet could be played at the course where the Masters' tourney is held. Jones thought the meet at Chattanooga a grand thing for golf and the entrance in age from 13 to 18. He was impressed with the spirit of the boys and of the Rotary Club of Chattanooga, which stages the tournament.

So it is possible that the tourney will go to Augusta on the tenth anniversary.

There is no use to look four years ahead, though, to realize the success of the tourney. Remember that 105 players from 31 schools in five states were represented this year, and you'll see just what a grand event it is right now.

Sportsmanship.
Examples of sportsmanship—spontaneous sportsmanship, as it were, not planned and not tainted by the dictates of politeness—were as numerous as bogeys at the prep tourney.

Sonny Ellis, of Columbus, the winner, was pulling hard for Ashby Taylor, of Augusta's Richmond Academy, when he came up to the last hole, needing a four to tie. Taylor missed, but it wasn't Sonny's fault. Gene Dahlbender Jr., the 17-year-old Atlanta who lost in the playoff with Ellis, also did something I'll remember.

When Ashby failed to get in the playoff after leading most of the way, Gene walked up and shook hands with J. P. Taylor, Ashby's father, and said:

"He should have been in there, Mr. Taylor, and I'm sorry he isn't."

I've heard that said before, and lots of times it doesn't sound just right. But when a 17-year-old tells you that, he means what he says.

Youngsters just don't say things to be saying them.

It surely is refreshing.

Rookie White Limits Braves To Five Blows

Slaughter Homers as St. Louis Wins, 5-1; West Also Hits One.

BOSTON, May 5.—(AP)—Ernie White, rookie southpaw making his first major league start, hurled the St. Louis Cardinals to their 10th straight triumph today as he set down the Boston Braves with five hits for a 5-to-1 victory. White shut out the Braves until the eighth when Pinch-hitter Max West homered.

THEY'RE AT WAR NEXT DOOR:

General Wavell's Army of Nile Used Equipment Made in Canada.

(This is the thirteenth in a graphic series: "They're at War Next Door," by George Lyon, who spent a month in Canada making an exhaustive study of the war effort. He talked with all kinds of people, in all walks of life. He rode with "tankers" at Camp Borden, studied all phases of the air training plan, questioned convoy heroes. Today he tells more about Canada's war industries.)

By GEORGE H. LYON

If you think this isn't a different kind of war, consider the fact that the army which used to travel on its stomach now puts its faith in a gas engine.

The fleet of 2,000 nondescript taxicabs which carried the defenders of Paris to the Marne in 1914 has found a modern prototype in a mechanized convoy of four-wheeled drive, balloon-tired trucks and lorries which have a maximum speed of 50 miles an hour.

The production of mechanized transport of this type is one of the real high spots of Canada's war effort. Canadian factories produced the motor equipment which carried General Wavell's Imperial Army of the Nile in its dramatic dash across Libya. She has built more than 100,000 of these vehicles since war began and they are now coming off the production line at the rate of more than 400 a day.

More of them are made in the Canadian plants of Ford, Chrysler, General Motors and Chevrolet. Newest product is the universal carrier, a fleet little unit which might be characterized as mechanized cavalry and which functions in just that capacity.

Weights 8,200 Pounds.
Its outside measurements are 7 by 12 feet, its weight 8,200 pounds. It is powered by an 85 horsepower V-8 engine. Its caterpillar tracks are driven by sprocket wheels which take the place of regular wheels; it can go 45 miles an hour over all kinds of country. I rode up hill and down dale in one of these carriers at Camp Borden and can testify that they can do just about everything but climb trees.

Unlike the tank, the universal carrier has no armor plate on the top but depends on its speed and maneuverability to evade bombing. Bottom and sides have plates of sufficient thickness to repel bullets of all ordinary calibers, but not anti-tank shells. It is called a universal carrier because it can carry a variety of armament and can be used for a variety of purposes; it is armed for defense but its chief function is that of a conveyor of troops and supplies. Two men constitute the usual crew, a driver and a radio operator who also serves as gunner. A single Bren machine gun is mounted in a fixed position at the front of the machine and there are also mountings at four corners of the hull, enabling the gunner to move his gun from place to place for defense against aircraft.

The mechanized transport now coming off Canadian assembly lines includes almost every known type of war vehicle—1,800-pound staff cars, wireless trucks, three-ton lorries, which will carry 25 men; artillery tractors, light "bugs," which are really four-wheeled motorcycles, and huge traveling workshops with lathes and welding equipment. Most of them are angular, snub-nosed jobs built to British specifications.

Army men say they have to be three times as tough as a commercial truck and that reports from British fighting fronts show them to be just that. Even when they seem to be completely bogged down in mire they manage to extricate themselves by the use of a self-contained cable and winch. With four wheels geared to the engine they can apply their power more effectively in bad going. Canadian manufacturers, I think, are justified in saying that the Army's mechanical transport has got what it takes and that it is coming off production lines in remarkably large quantities.

Good Job With Bren.

The dominion has done an equally good job in the production of the Bren light machinegun. This automatic firer, which weighs only 21 pounds and spits out 30 nickel-jacketed bullets in four seconds, was invented in Brun, Czechoslovakia, and perfected in Enfield. Construction of the names of the two cities resulted in "Bren." It can be fired from a tripod on the ground, mounted on a truck and can be used against aircraft. Huge production of the Bren gun is the more remarkable because Canada never before had manufactured such equipment. I am not permitted to give exact production figures, but I may say that one factory is now making 95,000 automatic guns a year and most of them are Brens.

The story of Canada's experience in building airplanes and ships is not such a happy one, but there are good reasons for this. An early and serious bottleneck in plane production arose from the fact that Canada had no airplane industry before the war, plus the added fact that prior to June, 1940, England had virtually told her she need build no planes. So the dominion got off to a late start, piecing out equipment for her air training plan with ships bought in the United States. First attempt to do a large scale job resulted in a fiasco when Federal Aircraft, a government-supervised operation, went sour. Munitions Minister Howe was in England, delivery of parts by sub-contractors got far off schedule and the whole plan had to be re-engineered. Now Mr. Howe thinks he's going to begin to get production fairly soon, but the critics of the Conservative opposition, however, have not been wholly silenced.

Compared With U. S.
Many, however, think that Canada's production of 180 planes a month isn't a bad job and compares favorably with United States figures of 1,200 when the population ratios of the two countries—one to ten—is considered. In addition to trainers, privately-owned plants are making Hurricane fighters, Stranraer flying boats, Bristol Bolingbrokes, North American Harvards and Noorduyt Norsemen. A new bomber, similar to the American Consolidated, will soon be put into production. The airplane industry now has 25,000 employees in Canada and orders on its books totalling more than $125,000,000.

Canada makes no airplane engines and believes that development of such an industry would be an impossible task at this time. She buys many engines in the United States. Eventually, I think, the building of airplanes will become one of Canada's major industries. It is already well on its way, but as yet there has been no all-out effort.

Tomorrow—The Commonwealth Air Training Plan.

(This article was written in the United States and not subject to censorship. While in Canada I talked with a number of censors and gained a thorough knowledge of their problems. Because I do not wish to furnish any information of military value to the Axis powers, I have endeavored in writing these pieces to conform to the Canadian censorship. For this reason many names of persons, ships, places and dates are purposely omitted.—George Lyon.)

Your Horoscope for Today

By ALICE DENTON JENNINGS, Noted Atlanta Astrologist.

What today means to you if you were born between:

What today means to you if you were born between:

March 21st and April 19 (ARIES)—The influences operating today are such that may suddenly break up some existing conditions in your life. You may have to guard against a dogged determination to go ahead no matter what the outcome. Therefore the day is not especially auspicious for changes or radical departures from routine.

April 20th and May 20th (TAURUS)—The entire day and evening favors mechanical and industrial activities. The day favors new contacts, real estate transactions, mechanical works, radio, experimenting and unusual and progressive pursuits.

May 21st and June 20th (GEMINI)—The period previous to 3:55 p. m. favors dealing in real estate and matters that have already been started. After 3:55 p. m. a feeling of nervousness may predominate. The period suggests sticking to routine matters.

June 21st and July 22nd (CANCER)—The period previous to 12:30 noon favors sticking to routine matters. Between 12:30 noon and 5:54 p. m. favors attending to business matters, financial affairs. After 5:54 p. m. favors mechanical and industrial ideas.

July 23rd and August 22nd (LEO)—The entire day and through 1:26 midnight should be an inspirational, artistic and creative period, when your visions artistically, creative and for matters of beauty, can be put into practical form. Dealings with others should have pleasant results.

August 23rd and September 22nd (VIRGO)—The entire day favors new and important undertakings. You may have opportunities to accomplish something towards your highest ideals today and until 11:43 p. m. good will and co-operation should be more easily attained.

September 23rd and October 22nd (LIBRA)—Between 7:07 a. m. and 8:31 p. m. favors work that requires patience and time. Between 8:31 p. m. and 10:09 p. m. is not a favorable time to give in to tempers and for hasty action. After 10:09 p. m. favors work of an inspirational nature.

October 23rd and November 21st (SCORPIO)—Before 4:35 p. m. is an excellent period to evolve new ideas and methods. Great strides can be made along intellectual, education and legal lines. After 4:35 p. m. favors attending to routine matters and avoiding extremes.

November 22nd and December 21st (SAGITTARIUS)—Harmonious vibrations operate before 1:40 p. m. for pleasant and profitable contacts in finances, domestic affairs and business matters. The remainder of the day and evening favors sticking to routine.

December 22nd and January 19th (CAPRICORN)—The entire day and until 9:37 p. m. favors contacts and financial matters. After 9:37 p. m. it would be well to pay attention to details to avoid misunderstandings or deceptions.

January 20th and February 18th (AQUARIUS)—The period between 1 noon and 7:45 p. m. does not especially favor signing contracts or entering into new agreements. After 7:45 p. m. appears to be the better part of the day for entering into agreements and signing papers.

February 19th and March 20th (PISCES)—During the morning hours and until 1:19 noon those with whom you associate may be unusually helpful, and avenues of endeavor that cater to the assistance of humanity should find surprising success. Between 1:19 noon and 7:21 p. m. favors social dealings with friends and relationships.

Calamity Jane Daughter Guest On We, People

Newspaper Man To Tell of War Conditions in Canada at 8.

Calamity Jane's daughter, Mrs. Jean Hickok McCormick, will reveal some little known facts about her quick-trigger mother when she appears as special guest of Master of Ceremonies Gabriel Heatter on "We, the People," over WGST tonight at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. McCormick, who didn't know that the famous character of the Old West was her mother until after she was dead, will read a confession written by Calamity Jane in her last years in Deadwood, S. D.

Other guests on the program will include George Lyon, New York newspaperman, and Dorsha Hayes, author of "The American Primer."

Lyon, who has spent much of his time in Canada since the start of the war, will tell of current conditions in the Dominion and explain the attitude of the average man-on-the-street toward the war. Miss Hayes will give her views on democracy.

FIRST NIGHTER

HAS COMEDY TONIGHT

A wide-eyed American girl in Moscow, who is determined to work for her papa's newspaper syndicate, stirs up plenty of mad merriment during the comedy, "Yankess Abroad," by Ruby Gruber, to be presented by "First Nighter," over WGST tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Barbara Luddy portrays the young lady who is sent to Russia to understand her father's top correspondent. Les Tremayne is cast as the gen. who becomes annoyed by having his footstepers dogged during business hours. He finally tells the girl to "go to the Kremlin and interview Lenin." Naively, the girl obeys. She actually succeeds in getting into the famous building, and the results of her venture are nothing short of extraordinary.

GLENN MILLER MUSIC COMES FROM HOLLYWOOD

Glenn Miller, in Hollywood making the picture "Sun Valley," brings his "Moonlight Serenade" sweet-and-swing melodies from Station KMX, Columbia network's station in the film capital.

This program will be heard over WGST.

Paula Kelly, dark-eyed queen of rhythm, sings some exciting new hits and the "Modernaires," one of radio's most popular quartets, is heard in some perfect harmonizing.

Is Dead Here

James Barney Hightower Succumbs in Hospital at Age of 59.

Patrolman James Barney Hightower, 59, yesterday had made his final rounds at Grady hospital.

The veteran policeman died at the hospital where for many years he had helped preserve law and order.

He was a familiar sight patrolling the corridors and was known by the hospital staff as "Uncle Barney." Young nurses and internes found him a handy person to have around whenever an unruly patient was brought to the emergency clinic for treatment.

In most cases his quiet voice shamed them into submissiveness.

He had been on the force for 25 years. A lifelong resident of Atlanta, he lived at 781 Edgewood avenue, N. E.

Besides his wife, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Harry N. Smith and Miss Ethel Hightower; four brothers, C. C., W. O., Gus and John B. Hightower; two sisters, Mrs. S. I. Mayfield and Mrs.

Private Samuel B. Martin, who fooled Atlanta police for three weeks by posing as a "military policeman," remained in solitary in the guardhouse at Fort McPherson yesterday while officers pondered his alleged confession—a recital of as bizarre a tale as a veteran Army man ever heard.

"Nobody seems able to figure out just why Martin did what he did," said Captain J. M. Emigh, post adjutant. "A number of people have talked to him and he appears a normal youth in every way."

"Usually, when a soldier deserts, as Martin did, according to his confession, he gets as far away from the Army and the uniform as he can. But Martin operated in reverse on this score."

Will Face Trial.

Captain Emigh said Martin will face trial before a military court-martial on at least two charges, desertion and impersonating a noncommissioned officer, although his case is still being investigated.

Captain Emigh declared Martin confessed he left Fort Oglethorpe March 12 "AWOL" because he "wanted to avoid kitchen police duty."

The alleged confession stated that Martin bought a military police arm band and sergeant chevrons in stores here shortly after his arrival in Atlanta. These he wore at police headquarters when he introduced himself as a "military policeman."

Contacted McLean.

Martin, according to his confession, first contacted Lieutenant Reggie McLean, with whom he rode in a patrol car. He told McLean he had been sent here from Fort Oglethorpe by Fourth Corps Area headquarters to "organize military police in Atlanta."

Not only McLean, but dozens of other Atlanta policemen took Martin and his arm band and chevrons at face value, for, according to his confession, he rode in patrol cars for almost three weeks and was active in making arrests.

One of these arrests, the confession disclosed, was a deserter from Camp Croft, S. C. Martin later released this man, who is now being sought by both military and civil authorities. Martin was also instrumental in releasing several other prisoners from the city jail, his confession disclosed.

Former Laura Willet Was 87; Had Lived Here 20 Years.

Mrs. Laura Willet Riddle, for 20 years a resident of Atlanta, died yesterday afternoon at a private hospital after an illness of several weeks. She was 87 years old.

She was born in Penfield, Ga., the eldest daughter of Professor and Mrs. Joseph E. Willet. She spent most of her early life in Macon, where her father taught at Mercer University, and was graduated from Wesleyan College.

After teaching school in Macon, Mrs. Riddle came to Atlanta. She married the late James Riddle. At the time of her death she was living with her brother, Hugh M. Willet, of 1337 Fairview road.

Mrs. Riddle was a member of the Second-Pence de Leon Baptist church and active in its women's organization.

She is survived by her brother, Hugh Willet; a sister, Mrs. Omar Holliday, of Los Angeles; two nephews and four nieces.

Funeral services will be conducted at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the graveside in Riverside cemetery, Macon, by Dr. J. E. Simmons. Burial will be under direction of H. M. Patterson & Sons.

75 Lost Aboard Canadian Ship

OTTAWA, May 5.—(AP)—Naval Minister Macdonald announced late today 75 military personnel had been lost in the sinking of a ship.

He told the house of commons the next-of-kin of the men lost had been informed and also next-of-kin of those who were saved.

The minister apologized for making the announcement in such a "terse form" but said that was the wish of the British admiralty.

No official casualty or survivor list has been issued yet on the sinking.

The Canadian Press office in Ottawa said it is believed Macdonald's announcement concerned the ship on which Sam Robertson, 35-year-old superintendent of the Canadian Press London bureau, was returning to England from a vacation in Canada.

He was officially reported yesterday as missing as a result of enemy action during a sea voyage.

William Pitts Sr. Dies in Pittsburgh

William E. Pitts Sr., of Montgomery, Ala., father of Walter Pitts Jr., of Atlanta, died suddenly yesterday in Pittsburgh, Pa.

He was one of Montgomery's most prominent citizens, and was active in business, civic and social affairs of the city. Other survivors include John Pitts, of Anniston, Ala., and Charles Pitts, of Memphis, Tenn.; sons, Mrs. John S. Owens and Mrs. Anzie Barber, of Montgomery, and Mrs. W. H. Barnes, of Prattville, Ala., daughters.

Funeral services will be held in Montgomery.

Ralph Johnson, Contractor, Dies

Ralph Johnson, 40, of 886 Arlington place, N. E., a contractor, died yesterday at a local hospital.

At one time he was a deputy United States marshal in Atlanta. He was the son of J. M. Johnson, Gainesville attorney, and the late Mrs. Hettie Bunch Johnson.

Also surviving are two sisters, Miss Ruth Johnson and Mrs. L. E. Peterson, and two brothers, J. M. Jr. and H. L. Johnson.

Funeral services will be conducted at 11 o'clock this morning at Hiawasse.
